LEADERS WARN AGAINST BLOW TO 'ARSENAL'

Barkley Says White House Has Not Requested Lowering Age.

TAFT HITS POLITICS

Asserts Administration Just Waiting Until After Election to Act.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Senate Democratic leaders professed little taste today for Republican proposals to draft youths of 18 and 19, and one warned against mobilizing an army so great as to endanger the nation's efficiency as "the arsenal of democracy."

Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky told reporters he had received no request from the White House or selective service headquarters for any change in the draft law. He would support such action, he said, only upon request that "it is necessary."

Senator Thomas (D. Utah), of the military committee, expressed little sympathy for a move to induct younger men. He told reporters the 18 and 19 year olds should be permitted an additional year or two for the education that "can make a good lieutenant out of an average private."

"Care should be taken," he said, "against going to the extreme in mobilization of an army in view of our commitments to supply our own forces and our Allies with ammunition, food and the other materials of war."

Of a nation of approximately 130,000,000, Thomas said, there are approximately 60,000,000 between 20 and 50, and half of that number are women.

"An armed service of 10,000,000 will require one of every three men in that group," he added, "while out of that group must come most of the skilled men who produce the weapons this arsenal of democracy must furnish the United Nations."

Senator Taft (R., Ohio), declaring the administration was wait-

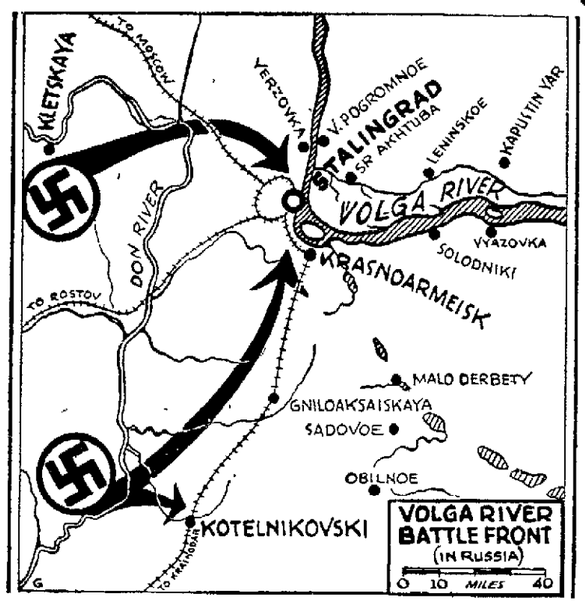
Focal Points of Axis War Against Allies In West, Orient



Bomb-wracked Stalingrad on the Volga river in south Russia and the maritime provinces of Siberia, particularly the area around Vladivostok, today were the focal points in the Axis battle against the United Nations. Some reports had the Nazi pincer drive (left above) within seven miles of Stalingrad today, after the Russians had made their sixth retreat. Japan had lightened her air power in the southwest Pacific and her armies were retreating steadily in China, indicating that she was massing forces for a new offensive elsewhere. The Chinese say the blow will fall on Siberia, (see map, right above.)

TELLS YOUTH AXIS OFFERS ONLY DEATH

FDR Tells Young People of World United Nations' Cause Is Theirs.

TALKS TO STUDENTS

President Praises Young Men Of Occupied Nations Who Fight for Freedom.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt told young people of all the world today that German Nazis, Italian Fascists, and Japanese militarists have nothing to offer but death while "the cause of the United Nations is the cause of youth itself."

His words were broadcast internationally and were directed to young men and women in the United Nations and in Axis nations and Axis-dominated lands as well. But Mr. Roosevelt remarked he fully expected the Axis to jam the airwaves to drown out his message.

The president's immediate audience was the International Student Assembly, gathered in Washington.

The cause of the United Nations, Mr. Roosevelt declared, is "the hope of the new generation—and the generations that are to come—hope for a new life that can be lived in freedom, and justice, and decency." He added:

"This fact is becoming clearer every day to the young people of Europe, where the Nazis are trying to create youth organizations built on the Nazi pattern. * * * It is a pattern devised by Hitler himself and imposed upon youth by a form a mental forcible feeding—a diet of false facts, distortions, and prohibitions—all backed up by the guns of the Gestapo."

Any who wonder what the decent youth of Europe think of this, he said, have but to consider the brave young men in occupied countries who prefer firing squads to lifelong "slavery and degradation under Hitler."

Throughout the world, men in America's fighting forces were

Germans Blast Way Closer to Key Volga City

Artillery, Planes Bombard Axis Forces Along Egypt Front.

BULLETIN

AT THE FRENCH FRONTIER—(U.P.)—Germany was reported today in advices from Unoccupied France to be seeking permission to station dive bomber squadrons at Dakar.

(By International News Service)

CAIRO—A heavy, continuous artillery and air bombardment, supported by American air units, is being directed against Axis forces all along the Egyptian battlefront, the Middle East high command announced today.

The communique disclosed that British mobile forces had launched an attack against Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces which moved up close to the imperial defense line and destroyed many enemy vehicles.

Principal targets of the air and artillery assault, the British command said, were Rommel's armored forces and transport concentrations still remaining in the area between El Ruweisat ridge and Qaret El Hemeimat.

A new attack by heavy bombers against the Axis-held Libyan port of Tobruk was announced while it was said that medium bombers attacked targets in the battle area.

Field dispatches indicated that American and British armored forces knocked out a considerable number of Axis tanks in quelling the latest assault by Rommel against the defense line.

The unsuccessful thrusts against the southern flank of the Allied line and in the central sector, it was said, apparently were aimed at destruction of American and British armored units. Rommel, however, came out on the short end, it was reported, and his losses far exceeded those of the Allies.

Dive Bombers Fill Sky In Sharpest Battle of Invasion.

BULLETIN

LONDON —(AP)— The Vichy radio, heard here today, said German forces were only seven miles from the center of Stalingrad. The Germans themselves did not make this claim.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW — The Russians acknowledged today another retreat southwest of Stalingrad—the sixth in 84 hours—and clouds of enemy dive bombers filled the sky as the Germans tried to blast opposition out of the short path between them and their objective.

The battle had mounted to heights of ferocity probably unequalled in the bloody German invasion. German Field Marshal Fedor von Bock had concentrated tremendous forces on a narrow salient to break through, and the Germans attacked along the whole area southwest of Stalingrad and the Volga river line.

The shrieking of dive bombers covered the whole battlefield. Soviet fighter planes raced out to intercept them and in 23 fights shot down 23 German aircraft and damaged eight.

Front-line dispatches reported that a bloody battle raged at one point on the southwest approaches where 200 enemy tanks and several regiments of infantry and artillery had attacked after dive bombers had blasted Russian first line defenses.

The Russians repulsed attack after attack, mowing down waves of tommy-gunners whose bodies piled up in mounds. But the Germans, regardless of losses, brought up reserves every three hours and resumed their attacks.

"Southwest of Stalingrad, Soviet troops engaged in stubborn defensive fighting with large en-

SENIOR GOLFERS START TOURNEY

66 Oldsters From All Parts of State Register for First Round of Play.

By REX HESS
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

WESTBROOK COUNTRY CLUB—Senior golfers from all over Ohio came back to Mansfield today for their annual golf tournament, and started out over Westbrook's testing layout in a drizzle of rain.

At 11 a. m., some 66 members of the Senior Golf association had registered for the 36-hole tournament, to try to take away the crown now worn by Frank Folts, Cleveland, whose 153 was the best score shot last year.

By afternoon, however, it was expected that enough more entries would have been received to boost the total to 100 players.

After today's 18 holes, the golfers will relax at a dinner at the club tonight, stage a business session, and then rest up for the final 18 holes of the tournament tomorrow.

Among the early arrivals were three golfers in Class A—75 and over—including George W. Gray of Coshocton, class champion last year with a score of 190 There were three early entries in Class B, 70 to 74

Defending Champion Folts had not appeared at noon, but was expected. Joe E. Wells, veteran Steubenville expert, and runner-up last year, was on hand and determined to succeed in 1942 where he failed in 1941. Also among the missing early arrivals was Frank Pelton, Cleveland, a former champion. He, too, was expected this afternoon. Pelton placed third in 1941.

OPA Cites Violators Of Beef, Veal Ceilings

Files Suits Today In Federal Courts In 18 Cities, Charges 'Upgrading' and 'Plain Overcharging.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—In the first sweeping move to reduce food prices, the Office of Price Administration today opened a nationwide drive against alleged violators of price ceilings on beef and veal by going into federal courts in 18 cities seeking court injunctions against more than 100 meat packers and distributors.

The OPA said that the first suit already has been filed and that the remainder will be filed in the courts by late afternoon.

"The bulk of the cases," the OPA announced, "involve so-called upgrading of beef and veal, although many are concerned as well with plain and simple overcharging. The 100 odd packers and wholesale distributors are also being charged with using incorrect invoices or with failing to issue invoices as provided by OPA regulations.

"Upgrading consists of stamping and selling meat which is inferior at prices established for higher grades. Under regulations, all carcasses and wholesale cuts or meat must be accurately stamped and must not be sold at prices in excess of the legally established maximum for the particular grades.

"There have been complaints from all parts of the country that packers and wholesale distributors are ignoring price regulations and palming off inferior cuts above OPA ceilings."

The decision to file the injunction suits was the outcome of a nation wide investigation by inspectors of both the OPA and the department of agriculture.

BOY GANG OF 8 IN COURT

Accused of Attacking Youth, They're to Face Quiz In Other Cases.

Eight Mansfield youths, seven colored and one white, who confessed in juvenile court that they had been operating as a "gang" and attacked a 15-year-old white boy, were questioned today by Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer who told them that "if you want to fight like men you had better limit your fights to two boys."

Judge Cramer said members of the youthful "gang" averaged 14 years old and lived in widely separated parts of the city.

They were apprehended by police on the complaint of the parents of the boy who was beaten. While the court had not completed its investigation today, Mrs. Marjorie Comer, county juvenile officer, said there was evidence that the boys had been involved in "two or three" other attacks on white youths.

Pending further questioning, the boys were sent home with their parents following a lecture by Judge Cramer. Mrs. Comer said the youths would be brought back into court later.

Motive of the "gang" in making the attacks was not clear. It was believed the boys may have been seeking money, but Judge Cramer said it was also possible that their attacks were acts of rowdyism to "show off their influence."

DRAFTEES LEAVE

Third Army Group Departs For Induction Station.

A large contingent of selectees from Shelby and rural parts of Richland county left Mansfield at noon today en route to the army reception center at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. This was the third contingent to leave the city since Tuesday.

Today's group, sent from Board 3, met at the Richland county courthouse shortly before noon for a brief civic ceremony. Later, the draftees marched down North Main street to Union depot where a large crowd bid them farewell.

This is the first contingent from Board 3 to go to Fort Benjamin Harrison. Last month Boards 1 and 2 sent groups to Fort Harrison but Board 3's contingent went to Fort Hayes at Columbus.

SEVEN KILLED

Ohioan Among Victims of Army Bomber Crash.

BATON ROUGE, La. —(AP)— A twin-motored army bomber carried seven Harding Field fliers to their death when it crashed in flames Tuesday night while on an operational flight near the Angola state penitentiary.

The victims included Private First Class Wade H. Fry, engineer, son of Mrs. Clarence L. Fry of Ashville, Pickaway county, Ohio.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland—(AP)—Police detained scores of persons last night in a roundup of political suspects growing out of disorders which accompanied the execution yesterday of Thomas Williams, member of the outlawed Irish Republican army, for the slaying of a constable.

Northern Ireland otherwise remained quiet, however, and no additional demonstrations were reported in Dublin, Eire.

War Department Spares Central Park's Cannons

It appeared likely today that the Civil war cannons in Central park believed destined for Ohio's wartime salvage heap will continue to "stand guard" in the city for some time to come.

"Under existing regulations and policies there is no authority for the scrapping of brass or bronze Civil war cannons," McVey post of the American Legion was informed today in a communication addressed to Sam V. Fox, retiring commander, from Major Lowell S. Thomas of the War department.

The letter was in response to an inquiry made by Fox as to the disposition of the weapons, the cannons in particular. At the outset of the salvage drive in Mansfield and Richland county early last

50 Girls to Sell 5,000 War Stamp Bouquets on Labor Day

Patriotism and color will be added to Mansfield's biggest Labor Day celebration in history next Monday when a corps of more than 50 girls will sell 5,000 attractive war stamp bouquets to persons taking part in the celebration.

Sponsored jointly by the Labor Day committee and the special September war bond sales committee, the girls will work from booths on downtown streets and at the theaters and will circulate through the crowds selling $1 bouquets made up of war stamps and red, white and blue paper.

Fred Hout, chairman of the September committee, said today that labor officials had approved the war stamp bouquet as the official insignia of the Labor Day celebration.

Lister Named Legion Chief, Coffey to Seat New Officers

Clifford O. Lister, Mansfield postal clerk, was elected commander of Earl McVey post of the American Legion last night to succeed Sam V. Fox, commander during the past year.

All officers with the exception of William Schnug, finance officer, and Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, chaplain, were newly elected. Installation will take place Sept. 16, when Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, recently elected department commander, will be here to conduct county-wide installation ceremonies.

Officers elected by the post included: senior vice commander, Russell Moore; junior vice commander, James Brownscombe; adjutant, Robert James, and sargeant-at-arms, Marion Rowe.

Plans to participate in the selling of war bonds in Mansfield theaters Sept. 13, in honor of the birthday of Gen. John J. Pershing, were considered and a committee

ABLAZE: Night Attack Leaves German Rail Center In Flames

(By International News Service)

LONDON—The German manufacturing center of Karlsruhe in the upper Rhineland was ablaze with large fires today as a result of a heavy night bombing attack by the Royal Air Force.

The air ministry said a strong force of British planes attacked targets at various points in the upper Rhineland but the main objective was Karlsruhe, site of railway workshops and locomotive factories.

Pilots returning from the assault said very large fires were started in the city by heavy bombs and incendiaries and that Karlsruhe was soon covered by a pall of smoke which rose to a height of 8,000 feet.

Eight British bombers were reported missing.

Objectives in Nazi-occupied northern France also were pounded during the night by the RAF.

The reverberation of explosions was felt across the channel coast and vivid flashes could be observed from the English shore. The probing beams of German searchlights were seen hunting for British planes.

The assault by British bombers which successfully attacked the manufacturing center of Saarbruecken the night before was acknowledged by the Berlin radio.

SIGNS: Jap Air Slump, Retreat Point Toward Surprise Attack

(By Associated Press)

A mysterious slump in Japanese aerial strength in the southwest Pacific, coupled with the continued withdrawal of enemy invasion armies in China, renewed speculation today that Japan was preparing to spring a big-scale attack elsewhere in the Pacific.

Russia's "back door" in Siberia, India and even the United States have been cited as likely objectives for a new Japanese offensive.

The apparent withdrawal or diminishing of Japanese air power in the southwest Pacific was reflected in a communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reporting that Allied fliers were unchallenged by enemy planes in attacks on two big Japanese bases.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur said he had no explanation for the recent lack of Japanese aerial activity, but it was apparent that any major Japanese offensive would call for the marshaling of all available air power.

A United Nations communique said land-based American bombers ranged far out over the Pacific to attack the naval and air base at Buka, at the northern tip of the Solomon islands. No interception was noted, it added significantly.

Again the enemy failed to intercept when fast United States medium bombers—the B-26 type known as Marauders—attacked the Japanese airdrome at Lae, New Guinea.

On the China war front, Japan's invasion armies abandoned another key point in their apparently voluntary retreat from hard-

HOSPITAL TEST FAILS TO HELP FATHER-TO-BE

Paces Floor, Can't Be Still Long Enough to Write In 'Log.'

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — Fairview hospital's noble experiment to relieve the suffering of medicine's most hopeless case — the prospective father—isn't working out so well.

Last January the hospital installed a father's "log" in which the pacing papas were supposed to jot down little notations on the great event. The idea was that writing would take their minds off mama and junior-to-be and thus rest the tortured nerves.

To date, however, the father's book has only about 50 entries, and Fairview has approximately four births a day. In other words, only about one out of 10 can stop pacing long enough to pick up a pencil.

Mrs. Anna Beckstette, the hospital hostess, thinks the book helps in a few cases but admits that the vast majority of fathers still wear ruts in the waiting room floor, still query the nurse every five minutes, and still look five times worse than the women having the babies.

Among the 50 odd entries in the "log" thus far, however, are some interesting clues as to the ways in which a man's mind works under pressure of approaching fatherhood. This one typifies the usual attitude:

"Sandra Lee arrived at 1:55 p. m. Sandra and mother doing fine —I'm a total wreck."

It's easy to discern from the notations how they feel about the results. For example:

"Ten hours waiting but every minute worth it — Baby Boy! ! ! Oh Boy! ! !"

"She pulled a slowdown on me— a girl."

"A boy—slipped up some place."

"All-American. Notre Dame."

The funniest composition indicated laconic modesty:

"The first boy was luck, the second was an accident and the third was momentum."

Repeated fatherhood evidently was affecting one man's work, if his comment in the log is any indication:

"Be it boy or girl, this must be the last one. Why? The BOSS demands that I have the next one."

One case evidently was an emergency:

"I never thought the police would have a hand in it."

And to prove that fathers suffer as much—or more—than mothers, here's one daddy's agonized commentary:

"And they told me the second one was easier. I don't believe it."

Shipmates Meet For First Time In News Office

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(INS)—They were shipmates on the ill-fated U.S.S. Lexington—but they met for the first time in a Fort Worth newspaper office.

Calvin Reeves, seaman first class, and J. T. Milam, pharmacist's mate, both have served a year in the navy since their enlistments in Fort Worth. Both were aboard the Lexington when it sank after internal explosions, and both swung their way along a line from the aircraft carrier to a rescuing destroyer.

Back in the United States, they were granted furloughs and headed for home. And when they walked into the Fort Worth newspaper office about the same time, they finally got acquainted.

CRASH ALARM

California Air School Has Emergency Alert.

MINTER FIELD, Cal.—(U.P.)—A new crash alarm system whereby a single telephone call places every department into emergency action has been developed at the air force basic flying school here.

Crash reports, received either by phone or radio from another plane, are relayed immediately to a dispatcher, who takes down all information and rings the post operator on a special line.

The operator in turn presses a master switch which rings 10 phones simultaneously, setting up a crash alarm conference. All parties on the line automatically are disconnected from other calls and hear only the operator repeating, "Crash, crash, crash."

When a light indicator shows that all 10 key phones have been answered, the operator cuts in the dispatcher, who gives details of the accident, permitting all departments to act simultaneously.

Ambulances, fire equipment, flight and operation officers, the sergeant of the guard, the control tower, public relations men and photographers are thus routed to assigned rescue and press-contact work in less than five minutes.

Don't use the 'phone for idle chatter! Maybe you think it does not matter!

AMERICANS BUY MEXICO SILVER

U. S Silversmiths Need Metal For Defense Production; Pay High Prices

(By United Press)

MEXICO CITY — Silversmiths in the United States, fearful that Mexico's entire silver output will be needed in war industries, have sent representatives to Mexico to buy up the available supply on a "black market," paying half again as much as the U. S. ceiling price, according to reliable information.

Mining authorities estimate the combined silver demands of war industries and industries not producing war materials will exceed 215,000,000 ounces this year. The entire world output annually averages more than 200,000,000 ounces.

The conclusion reached by the silversmiths is that there will be little or no silver for the arts.

This fact is substantiated by statistics which show that the United States produces annually about 70,000,000 ounces of silver, all of which goes into the monetary system Mexico produces approximately 80,000,000 ounces annually, the bulk of which will be needed for industrial and war purposes this year.

The prospect of getting silver free from other world sources in any appreciable quantity appears uncertain.

Apparently taking these factors into consideration, U. S. silversmiths, who ordinarily buy silver in the States at the ceiling price of 35⅛ cents an ounce, have sent representatives to Mexico to purchase all available silver. They are reported to have paid as high as 55 cents an ounce on the "black market" here

Silver is being used more extensively in the airplane industry today, principally in casting bearings, in electrical contacts, soldering and alloys It also has many other industrial uses

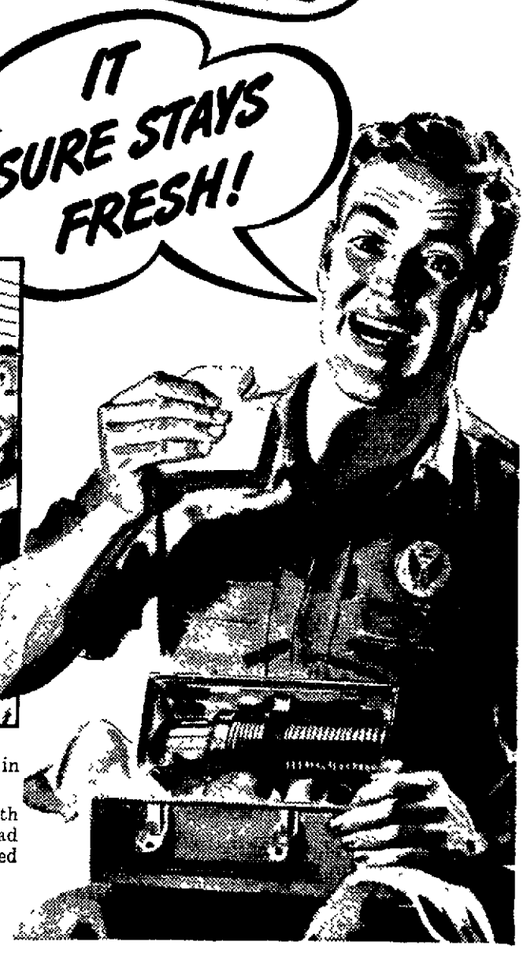
"PATENTED FLAVOR" WONDER BREAD WINS OHIO

Women Everywhere Are Quitting Old Kinds For It At The Rate Of 5,000 A Week Now

Only Wonder Bread Has "PATENTED FLAVOR" Because Only Wonder Bread Is Made This Way From Earle Patented Process Flour (U.S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696)

Hurry! Hurry! Order Early— Try New Wonder Bread Today!



Takes The Place Of Any White Bread Deficient In Natural Flavor, Vitamins And Minerals Because It Contains More Natural Flavor, Wheat Vitamins And Minerals

ALL over town the good news has spread. About this amazing new kind of bread. The bread with "patented flavor," which already has taken the place of ordinary kinds in more than 540,000 American homes:

1. Because it brings more of the rich, natural flavor of wheat full-ripened in the sun than white bread robbed of Nature's bounty. Thus, is better for taste.
2. Because it contains more natural vitamins and minerals of wheat now than ever before thought possible.

You can see the difference at once. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of the bottle of milk.

A Remarkable Discovery

Everybody knows the trouble with ordinary white bread. Made from flour bled white in refining to make a whiter loaf. Then Theodore Earle patented his discovery (U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219. 2232696). And here is the secret of "patented flavor."

By removing the bad-tasting outer skin of the grain, you get this richer, better tasting loaf. A bread the color of cream; tender in texture and crust. And with more natural vitamins and minerals.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new kind at the rate of over 5,000 a week now.

A Great Thrill

Most people are astonished and thrilled by their first taste of this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. Not the flat, insipid flavor of the usual chalk-white kind. But refreshingly different! Like the taste of fresh fruit after canned. You'll say it's marvelous!

But discover how much better this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread tastes. Mothers of growing children and wives of men who work should serve it instead of any ordinary vitamin-deficient kind.

Then, too, "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

See how much longer "patented flavor" Wonder Bread stays fresh in the bread box; how much longer sandwiches stay fresh in the lunch box.

Ask your grocer for the bread with "patented flavor"—the new Wonder Bread—today sure. You, too, will be surprised and thrilled with it.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1942.

Now would be a good time to read more about some of the places you had planned to visit this summer.

Unheard remark: "I think she looks much more attractive with that bright red polish on her fingernails."

It is said that the Japanese have no swear words in their vocabulary—seeming to confine themselves to the greater evils.

More 'Tools of War' Needed Quickly

ONE of the clearest pictures of this country's present military situation came from Admiral Ernest J. King, head of the United States navy, speaking to old friends and neighbors in Lorain.

The biggest difficulty, he explained, comes from having to conduct a war on eight widely separated fronts at the same time. "We'll be able to do it," he said, "but first we must have more tools. The tools are chiefly in the making, and they must be made before we can put them to work. We have to send them where the need is greatest. Our constant, every-day problem is premised on the idea, 'do the best you can with what you've got.' And we must not forget that we're still amateurs compared with the people we are fighting. They're professionals.

"It is no use looking over your shoulder and bemoaning what has gone by, because that's over. The thing to keep in front of us is. where de we go from here? We're going on to victory, of course. But it's going to be a long war. We will really hit our stride in about a year's time."

Considering slowness of the start and retarding influences at work, much progress has been made in this country during the nine months since Pearl Harbor, but what has been done is far from being enough and frequent strikes among war workers, even in small numbers, show clearly that there is still lack of realization, on the part of some people, of the vital importance of making every day and hour count in production of war materials and supplies.

If production plans could be made with assurance that there would be no more strikes, slowdowns, or suspensions of work until the war has been won, prospects for coming months would be much brighter.

Canada Adopts Labor Control Plan

THE CANADIAN government has reached the point of exercising greater labor control. A new order from the labor ministry provides that "no person capable of working may remain voluntarily unemployed, and any person not working full time for a period of two weeks or more can be ordered to take full-time suitable work."

Employers as well as employes are under governmental control. No employer may dismiss a worker, and no worker may leave any job, without giving seven days' notice in writing. No person may seek employment, and no employer may hire anybody, unless the person concerned has a permit to seek employment. Employers must supply their labor needs through the public employment office.

Such procedure seems strict, as viewed in the light of peacetime privileges, but individual conveniences and preferences must be sacrificed by civilians as well as by soldiers while a war is being fought.

Mild Restriction on Meat Diet

MEAT-RATIONING appears next in order, and the public mind is already being put in readiness for philosophical acceptance of this further departure from peacetime habits.

First thought, as a restricted meat diet is proposed, is that men in the fighting forces must be given whatever they need in the way of nourishing food and that civilians engaged in hard physical work should also have access to sufficient meat to provide a balanced, healthful diet.

The suggested weekly limit of two and a half pounds of "red meat" per person seems to involve no particular hardship as many persons now live comfortably and healthily on less than that amount of meat. and when it is considered that poultry is not to be included in the ration allotment, the restriction is more likely to be beneficial than detrimental to some excessive meat eaters.

Speed Limits Apply To All

NO NEED is seen by city council to repeal an ordinance requiring taxicabs to be equipped with governors which limit speed to 45 miles an hour—nor, it appears, is there any particular need for such an ordinance.

As has been assumed, and now confirmed by Traffic Commissioner Boals, taxicab drivers are not specially privileged to exceed speed limits prescribed for drivers of other motor vehicles.

Inside the city the maximum is 35 miles an hour on streets which are a part of state and federal highways; 25 miles an hour on other residential streets and 20 miles an hour in school zones and business districts.

Observance and enforcement of legal speed limits seems to be all that is really needed.

Simplified Form of Swindling

SWINDLES of various sorts come to light from time to time, with so many variations that it is impossible to warn against all of them.

One safe rule, however, is to be suspicious of strangers who seem to be offering something for nothing, or who tell of some wonderful scheme that promises quick enrichment.

It may be wondered that anyone would be victimized by such a ruse as has been practiced in Mansfield a couple of times within the past few weeks, but, as Barnum remarked—.

Whooping Cough Fatalities Decrease

THE CENSUS BUREAU reports that deaths from whooping-cough are falling off. Back in 1918 the death rate was 17 per 100,000 persons. This may not seem very much, but it is enough.

Much or little, it has been heavily reduced. In 1940 the deaths were only 2.1 per 100,000. Thus mortality from this disease may soon vanish altogether.

It could scarcely be avoided that someone should interpret Brazil's declaration of war as "Nuts to Hitler."

It appears that wages are never just right—they are either too low or too high.

Russia Prepared for Jap Attack On Siberia as Next Enemy Move

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

JAPAN'S continued withdrawals in China and her apparent preparations to assume a defensive rather than an offensive position there tend to support the belief that she may plan an invasion of Siberia.

If Japan intends to attack, she probably will do so soon, because winter is approaching in eastern Siberia and weather most favorable for a Japanese land advance will not last much longer. Some American military men, in fact, confidently had expected the Japanese to strike in August.

The delay may have been due to a supposed agreement with Germany that Japan would attack when the Germans have taken Stalingrad and gained control of the Volga. At the moment the peril to Stalingrad is very real. There is no confirmation of the purported agreement with Germany, but it does not sound unreasonable.

The 1941 non-aggression pact with Russia, which was a matter of convenience, would not stand in the way. There would be no element of surprise in the attack, because the Russians have been expecting it and are ready for it.

JAPAN is believed to have upwards of 750,000 men and a large part of her air force in Manchoukuo, from which the attack would be made. Besides striking northwestward along the Amur towards Lake Baikal, the Japanese most probably would head northeastward for Khabarovsk and from there to the sea.

That would completely isolate Vladivostok, Russia's naval and air base. Instead of a frontal attack by sea on Vladivostok, which is strongly defended, the Japanese would come by land down the peninsula to take it from the rear, as they did in the case of Singapore.

It would be typically Japanese to repeat a maneuver which worked so successfully before. Besides, the Japanese navy has taken such a battering in the southwest Pacific that Tokyo is not likely to risk any part of it unnecessarily.

The reasons for a Japanese attack on Siberia are not hard to find. It is a part of her "greater east Asia plan," which was given considerable emphasis in the present cabinet shift.

LIKE the Japanese incursion into the Aleutian islands, a move into the Russian maritime provinces would be partly defensive against the United States.

The Japanese dread the prospect of American bombing attacks on her vulnerable cities. That incidentally makes the Japanese withdrawals in Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces of China hard to explain. The Chinese are regaining air field sites which, if they can hold them, might be used as bases for American bombers. Japan must have some reason for not making a greater effort to hold them.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this day in 1783, in a treaty signed at Paris, England acknowledged the independence of the United States with the Mississippi as our western boundary and not the Alleghenies, as France and Spain preferred. The treaty further stated the Mississippi was to be open to the shipping of both nations and Americans were to share in the Newfoundland fisheries.

Man About Manhattan

Behind the Story

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Kenneth Roberts, whose swell story on Rogers Rangers has been read by millions, wouldn't have been able to write that story if he hadn't been a hard-hearted, name-calling literary detective.

His novels—"Arundel," "Rabble in Arms, "Northwest Passage," etc—may sound like fiction, which they are, but they are based on years of exhaustive research, and when Roberts finds that older authors have neglected to do justice to various aspects of the early history of our country, he damns them without reservation. As Clara Claasen says, "life in Roberts' vicinity is considerably enlivened by outbursts against historians who fail to include necessary details in their narratives."

First, Roberts is a reporter. He began life as a newspaperman, and, after serving as a captain in Siberia during the First World war, he toured Europe for the Saturday Evening Post in an effort to "get at the truth that lay behind the confused European dispatches."

HE WAS 43 when he wrote his first historical novel, "Arundel." . . . Before a line was written he had spent two years in research. For "Northwest Passage," which is the story of Major Robert Rogers' exploits as an Indian fighter and as a searcher for the fabulous Northwest passage to the sea and to the rich Indies, Roberts did enormous research. For two years he employed a searcher in London, who spent most of that time running down clues and tracing forgotten letters in London's Public Record Office. In real life Major Rogers had been court-martialed on very serious charges. There were no records of this court-martial. Roberts wouldn't begin his novel until these records had been unearthed. Novels that deal with historical figures should seem plausible, he believes.

On many occasion critics and readers have challenged Roberts' use of certain words in his novels that recreated life as it was lived two hundred years ago. The entreaty "For God's Sake" was one, and "Tomatoes" was another. In all instances Roberts quickly produced letters and journals written at the time to prove the words were in use.

ARUNDEL, Maine, the center of much of Roberts' interests and writing, is now known as Kennebunkport. Roberts lives there in a stone house built from stones gathered on his property. He has a wife and a wirehair and a magnificent library of old journals and records written by Continental soldiers.

He also is said to have a profound knowledge of wines, speaks Italian, and does all his writing in longhand on large sheets of yellow paper.

Timely Editorial

It Is Just a Game Now.

If college football dies, it probably will not be because of anything Commander Gene Tunney, USN, has had to say about it. The old champ, who used to fight one or two hours a year for immense sums of money, sees no place in the service conditioning programs for the gridiron sport.

The war itself, we believe, will do more than the Commander can to reduce football to a place which the judicious have long considered a seemlier one. In time of peace, football with its military jargon, its brave panoply, its fearsome nicknames and inflated rivalries has constituted a sort of moral equivalent for that spirit which in more warlike tribes is put directly to the profession of arms. Now that the real thing has come along, football automatically reverts to its original status, of a game. How it will fare in the post-war world, we cannot possibly say. Sufficient unto the day is the overemphasis thereof.—Detroit News.

Big-Scale Co-ordination of Nazis Revealed By New Drive In Egypt

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

NAZI FIELD MARSHAL ROMMEL'S attack against the British in the Egyptian desert bears the earmarks of being the big show for which we've been waiting—an all-out German effort to make quick conquest of Egypt and the Suez canal.

This action is part of Hitler's grand strategy for overrunning the Caucasus and Middle East. He is placing wholesale dependence on this vast operation to win him the war.

Rommel's drive is inaugurated at the peak of the crisis in his master's battle in southwestern Russia. It comes at the critical moment when Stalingrad is in grave danger, and the Nazi chief is threatening to break through into the lower Caucasus.

Thus we have a classic example of Nazi coordination on a big scale. Actually Marshal Rommel's forces form the right flank of Hitler's Caucasian drive.

If Rommel could overrun Egypt, capturing the great naval base of Alexandria, Port Said and the canal, he would pretty well have nullified the effectiveness of the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean. This would render the whole Middle East vulnerable to attack.

MEANTIME Hitler hopes to have captured Stalingrad and crack the Red line which now bars him from a drive southward through the Caucasus to the northern border of the Middle East. Successful in this, the Germans would be in position to make an assault from both east and west on the zone comprising Palestine, Syria, Iran and Iraq.

This latter phase of the plan could be carried out after winter had largely stopped fighting on the Russian front north of the Caucasus. The winter isn't severe in the southern Caucasus, and military operations both there and in the Middle East would be quite feasible.

It's obvious that the Allies must stop both Rommel in Egypt and his boss in the norther. Caucasus. It would be a catastrophe difficult to estimate if this Hitlerian scheme should succeed.

It's a dangerous moment, but taking the position as a whole there's no reason to despair over our chances of dealing with it adequately.

We have no details of the strength of the forces opposing each other on the drifting sands of the Sahara. We do know that both sides have received considerable reinforcements since the fighting died down the first of July and it looks like a fight to the finish.

ROMMEL'S reason for attacking the British on their left flank just above the great Qattara depression (a huge sink in the desert) is clear. His first purpose is to escape from the confinement in which the two armies are held on the narrow front between the Mediterranean sea on the north and the depression on the south. He wants the wide open spaces where he can bring his tank forces into full play.

The British are holding the seacoast in strength; the center of the British line was too strong for a direct frontal attack, especially since it would be unwise to risk tanks against fixed artillery.

There, is much encouragement in the news that further American forces have got into action, although we have few details. It's a sign that our strength in the Middle East is beginning to register in a substantial way.

Watching Trends

—By JOHN GROVER

WASHINGTON—Even educated Americans have a slightly Hollywood idea of India, with somewhat less than no real knowledge of the country's basic problems. That's the word of Sirdar J. J. Singh, president of the India League of America, now in the capital urging U. S. aid in resolving the Indian crisis.

The religious problem, Singh avers, is strictly a manufactured bogeyman. There are roughly 275,000,000 Hindus and 80,000,000 Mohammedans in India. Singh says in their day-to-day, rubbing-elbows living, there are no more friction than between Roman Catholics and Protestants in the U. S.

Singh — a former member of Gandhi's All India Congress party, but a resident of the U. S. for 17 years—cites Gandhi's willingness to accept an all-Moslem governing council as proof of the fact that independence, and not religious domination, is the basic motivation of Indian Hindus.

THERE are, Singh admits, religious crackpots in India, narrow, bigoted and vicious. But India has no monopoly on such specimens.

Just now there is a vocal but insignificant group in India advocating "Pakistan," which is severance of Moslem India from the mother country, with the ultimate aim of joining the Moslem provinces with Afghanistan, Iran, Iraq, Syria, Turkey and Egypt in a vast Pan-Moslem Empire. Hindus and responsible Indian Moslems—Singh cited the Moslem governors of three Moslem states —oppose any partition of India.

The Indian religious issue has been made a political football for generations Britain has insisted on composition of the religious question before talking Indian freedom, but Singh says there is more than a suspicion that some of the "religious riots" in the past "proving" that the Indian community was unable to get along, were inspired to forestall demands for independence.

He pointed out that this would have a parallel in the United States. Inspired violence to sway public opinion, such as the bombing and burning of factories and union offices, has not been unknown in the capital-labor controversies in this country. The side which hired hoodlums to wreck its own property could then point to the other as the perpetrator.

In the current crisis, the religious issue has been raised as a red herring, Singh says. Mohammed Ali Jinnah was quoted in stories released from India as stating that he would lead the Moslems in revolt if British settlement of the independence issue did not conform to his ideas of Moslem rights. Jinnah is the leader of the "Pakistan" movement, Singh told Washington newspapermen.

THE inference he sees in the Jinnah story is that Britain is unable to make any settlement in India, satisfactory to either Hindus or Moslems, and hence must maintain the status quo.

Again reverting to a U. S. parallel, he suggests that this would be comparable to the U. S. government denying Philippine independence on the threat of some thoroughly discredited anti-Semitic of anti-Catholic rabble rouser to lead an "uprising" of U. S. Protestants if the Catholic Philippines were granted independence.

Singh is a Sikh, descended from the rulers of the Punjab Since he is of neither leading Indian faith, he can take a dispassionate attitude. He knows both Hindus and Moslems, has lived with both.

Singh, who arrived unheralded, has made a deep impression in his whirlwind series of conferences in Washington. Whether or not his visit bears fruit, he's made a lot of capital figures stop and think awhile about the India they don't know.

Listen World!

'I Love Life'

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT WILL take more than guns to win this war . . . more than planes, tanks, subs. More, even, than marching men and grim effort from the front-line defense: It will take more than all these things to save democracy. For democracy doesn't mean mowing the other fellow down or being mowed yourself. Democracy is a loving, laughing thing. It is a dream of freedom and fun and friendliness. And you can only spread it if you have a laugh in your own heart while you load that gun . . . if you have an intense love for life . . . and intense determination to preserve its beauty and brightness.

Many accuse us of being apathetic about this war. We shouldn't be apathetic or indifferent. But neither should we be too grim. America wasn't founded on grimness. It was founded on red-blooded adventure, rose-tinted dreams, a love of living.

There's a song going around that should beat beside the drums in every heart. You've heard it—"I LOVE LIFE." I can't repeat the words verbatim nor in their right order but it's theme has been marching with me.

I love life!
I want to live—

Really live. Not just function. Really live with all my curiosity and excitement, initiative and foolishness, delight and desire. Live so that the throb of it tingles in every cell of my blood . . . live so that the call of it echoes in my ears night and day.

I don't want to be safe I don't want to be exempt. I don't want to be free from hurt. I want to get to work! Tall enough and strong enough, brave enough and deep enough to take all that's coming on the chin and thank God that I can take it so, not like some cud-chewing cow.

Take ALL it can give. Not only the play times, not only the easy times, but the shock and the terror, the wonder and the challenge, the dark valleys and the lonely mountain peaks. I want them all! I don't want to die until I've had them all.

I want to learn how friendly the other fellow is beneath his drab exterior . . . and what a doggone fool I can be in spite of my smarty front. I love life so much that I want to know all about life. If this human race must toil and stumble and suffer fear and pain and humiliation, I want to know what it's all about. If others can go on with a broken heart, then I want to learn that trick too.

"Life's fullness" doesn't just mean a lot of clowning or smugness or safety. It means a lot of everything, some of which isn't too nice to swallow. But it's great for what ails you—and I want all of it there is. And, with each passing day of our present nightmare I want to love life more, take life more, give life more. I want to live so fiercely and gustily myself that I can offset the darkness of doubt and death.

That's your and my real defense contribution . . . the determination to love life and live it . . . to preserve that love of life so that it shall be an elixir to every sick soul we meet . . . so that it shall be like Saint Paul's great conquering shout:

O death, where is thy sting—
O grave, where is thy victory!

A Farmer's Diary

Selling Out

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE SALE BILL said the selling would begin at "12:30 sharp." All farmers know that usually means perhaps an hour later, when the crowd is sufficiently large to start the auction. When I arrived, at about 2, long lines of automobiles were parked along the roadside, and bunched up in the adjoining field. Some comers had driven cattle trucks and trailers.

About the dwelling, on the lawn, were displayed household goods—barrel churn, stoves, beds, chairs, tables—an oldtime washer. Near the old bank barn was scattered the farm machinery—plows, harrows, grain drills, wagon; sacks of grain were heaped on the open floor, between mows of hay. Beneath, in the stables, were chickens, big draft horses, and ten Guernsey cows.

The auctioneer was a strongly built middle aged man, with a clear, voluminous voice. He announced the conditions of the sale and immediately started to sell the first article handed him to the highest bidder.

The owner, a short spare man, stooped and very gray, stood near, alert and more concerned than any other person there. He was selling the tools he had used every day for years—the material things that had become a part of his daily life.

The crowd buzzed into an interested ring when the cows were brought out. Into the center of the small human enclosure, the first cow was led—excited and suspicious. Her owner announced her age, the time she would be fresh, her milk production now and its butter fat content. All his cows were registered and tested. He knew their lineage well, for he had raised all of them but two.

He sold two teams of horses and two colts. The horses had been boon companions. The old farmer seemed loath to part with them.

To the auctioneer, and to the crowd, it may have been "just another sale." To the modest man whose useful goods were sold it was one of the sad and memorable occasions of his life. This day he parted not only with his goods, but with his familiar way of life.

"Where are you going—" I asked him, "when you leave the farm?"

"To live in the village," he answered thoughtfully. "I've burned the bridge behind me: I've sold my farm and I can't come back."

But all during the years ahead, winter, spring, summer, autumn —in memory, as a lover of the land, a sower of seeds, a harvester of crops, he will be back again upon those hills.

REDS FALL BACK FOR SIXTH TIME AT STALINGRAD

German Dive Bombers Blast New Advance Toward Key City of Volga River.

emy forces which pierced our defense," the Soviet noon communique said. "German tanks and infantry advancing toward an inhabited locality were held.

"The Germans made four attacks. All were repelled by heavy artillery fire. Fourteen German tanks were destroyed and a battalion of enemy infantry wiped out. On another sector of the same front, Soviet troops withdrew to new positions."

Significantly, front-line dispatches to official organs repeatedly referred to the enemy's numerical superiority but made no mention of Russian tanks and emphasized defensive operations by artillery and infantry.

Northwest of Stalingrad, the Russians appeared to be successfully holding powerful German thrusts.

". . . Soldiers of N formation engaged in fierce fighting with the enemy destroyed 11 tanks, one self-propelled gun and eight machine guns," the noon communique asserted.

Farther to the northwest in the Kletskaya area, German infantry supported by 38 tanks attacked on one sector, the communique said. The Germans were hurled back.

"Six tanks were disabled and over 200 Germans killed or taken prisoner," it continued "On another sector, eight German tanks were destroyed and more than a company of infantry annihilated. Two German planes were shot down by infantry."

Three of the objectives Adolf Hitler covets most in his southern drive were in dire peril. Stalingrad, with a population of 800,000 and valuable war industries and key of the Volga river on which it is built; Novorossisk, the Soviet Black sea naval base, and Grozny, with its important oil fields.

The army organ Red Star reported a further retrea. on a sector northwest of Novorossisk and fierce battles everywhere else on that front. The enemy, with overwhelming forces, were pushing from two directions, by land and sea.

(This seemed to indicate that the Germans were making a frontal attack on Novorossisk from the Kerch peninsula, scarcely 50 miles away.)

The Russians strewed the path of the advance with German corpses and wrecked machines, but dispatches spoke of "delaying actions."

The Russians also fought delaying action in the eastern Caucasus. In the Mozdok area, they thwarted numerous enemy attempts to force a water barrier, evidently the Terek river, and apparently at Terek, 30 miles above Grozny.

A large force of enemy tommy gunners finally crossed, but was surrounded and exterminated to the last man, dispatches said. Soviet artillery destroyed a tank detachment trying to cross

The noon communique said that on the Leningrad front, scouts, snipers and artillery destroyed three anti-tank guns and 120 Germans Soviet airmen were credited with shooting down 18 German planes and damaging three, and anti-aircraft gunners with destroying three more.

The communique did not indicate the progress of the Russians in their central front offensive opposite Moscow.

Russia Refuses Offer Of U. S. Troops

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Congressional sources said today that the Soviet Union had declined a United States offer to reinforce the Red Army with American troops.

Russia advised the American representatives, these sources said that it was suffering no severe shortage of manpower, notwithstanding the ferocity of the struggle against Germany.

The Soviet government added that it believed available shipping could be employed more effectively to carry planes and tanks and other war materials to the Russian front.

Chairman Andrew J. May, D., Ky., of the house military affairs committee said he had been advised of the Soviet reply to the American offer of manpower and regarded it as an outstanding example of the courage and heroism of the Red Army.

Hail Advent of U. S. Air Forces in Europe

LONDON —(AP)— The advent of U S army air forces in the European theater was acclaimed by the RAF today as one of the outstanding events of the third year of the war—a year which the British army said had brought an Allied invasion of Europe within the range of practical possibility

It was three years ago today that Britain and France declared war on Germany, two days after her invasion of Poland.

Commenting on the fact that American planes and American pilots in growing numbers now are helping carry the battle to Germany, an air ministry statement summarizing developments of the last 12 months said:

"Appearance of these forerunners of the American air fleets of the fourth year of the war will perhaps be regarded by future historians as the most significant event of the period under review."

Among the contributions which the United States already has made to the air war the air ministry mentioned specifically precision bombing attacks on Germany by flying fortresses and the work done by American-made Bostons, Liberators and Catalinas with the coastal command.

of three, R M James, James F. Carrigan and Paul Ehot, was appointed by Fox to perfect arrangements

Action was taken by the executive committee to turn $500 over to the home building committee for the purchase of war bonds.

The post also went on record to send 1943 paid-up membership cards to all members now in military service and also to finance one 4-H club boy and one 4-H club girl at the state 4-H club congress this month at Ohio State university. Walter Oswalt was appointed to represent the legion in making arrangements for the latter project.

The business session also included a report of the state convention held in Canton, given by W. E. Bradford.

listening to their commander-in-chief. Much of the address was directed specifically to them and he gave assurance that "we here at home are supremely conscious of our obligations to you," now and in the future, and "we will not let you down."

The United Nations, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, have the technical means, physical resources, courage, vision and will required to build and sustain the kind of world order which alone, he said, can justify youth's sacrifices now.

"But we must keep at it—we must never relax, never falter, never fear—and we must keep at it together," he said.

"We must maintain the offensive against evil in all its forms. We must work and we must fight to insure that our children shall have and shall enjoy in peace their inalienable rights to freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, freedom from fear.

"Only on those bold terms can this total war result in total victory."

We exult, Mr. Roosevelt said, in the thought that the young, free men and women of the United Nations and not the "wound-up robots of the slave states" will mold the shape of the new world."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from the White House and some three score delegates to the International Student Assembly were seated before him. Midway in his address he delivered what he termed a special message to our fighting men wherever they may be.

He said they were conducting themselves in a manner worthy of the nation's highest, proudest traditions and that none of the early pioneers showed greater fortitude or determination. The men who fought in 1918, 1863 and 1776, he said, showed no greater gallantry or selfless devotion to duty and country. Furthermore, he said, American men realize why they are fighting.

"You know," he said, "that the road which has led you to the Solomon islands, or to the Red sea, or to the coast of France, is in fact an extension of Main street, and that when you fight, anywhere along that road, you are fighting in the defense of your own homes, your own free schools, your own churches, your own ideals"

The president declared that the responsibility of government to try to find jobs for those willing and able to work would continue after the war.

When the fighting men return, he added, it is not proposed that they be involved, as last time, in a "domestic economic mess of our own making"

They must come home, he said, and take a part in shaping the world of the future. Furthermore, he said, his words for America's soldiers and sailors applied equally to all young men and women of the United Nations facing the common foes.

Mr. Roosevelt paid tribute to the "embattled youth" of Russia and China, who, he said, were casting off the last links of the "ancient chain of imperial despotism which had bound them so long."

"Victory is essential; but victory is not enough for you—or for us," he asserted. "We must be sure that when you have won victory you will not have to tell your children that you fought in vain—that you were betrayed.

"We must be sure that in your home there will not be want—that in your schools only the living truth will be taught—that in your churches there may be preached without fear a faith in which men may deeply believe."

CALLS MOTHER INTO HEARING

Prosecutor Prepares Delinquency Hearing For Man, 72.

With Oliver Kissell, 72, Mansfield, ordered into juvenile court this afternoon on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 10-year-old girl, Assistant Prosecutor Charles Freehafer said he would bring the girl's mother into court with Kissell for questioning regarding the girl's home conditions.

Freehafer said his investigation of the case produced evidence that the child had been neglected by her mother. No charge had been filed today against the mother. Kissell is in the county jail.

CANTON —(AP)— Canton's organized labor will take no time off from work to celebrate this wartime Labor Day in order that it may have a "greater celebration in 1943"

50 Girls to Sell 5,000 War Stamp Bouquets on Labor Day

Hout will give a short talk at the afternoon Labor Day rally in Central park to help spur the sale of bonds and to urge employes of the Mansfield plants to sign up under the "10 Per Cent" wage deduction plan.

The bouquets will be sold not only during the parade and afternoon activities but also the evening program at North Lake park. Dancers will be asked to buy bouquets and a short bond auction will be held preceding a floor show.

Volunteers are working at the Kafer flower shop making more than 5,000 of the bouquets. The September committee has planned the sale as one of the many daily activities arranged for September. The committee has outlined activities for practically every day of the month to help reach the monthly quota of $587,000.

High point in the month's campaign will come on Sept. 15 when three motion picture stars, Fred Astaire, Hugh Herbert and Ilona Massey come here to boost the "10 Per Cent" plan and the sale of bonds.

prehended her driving on South Main street.

"I don't know why I did it," Mrs. Gage told the court yesterday. "I just got in the machine and started driving, forgetting for the moment that my rights were restricted."

"The court appreciates your splendid contribution of four sons to our armed forces," Kalbfleisch said. "However, a woman's driving rights are no greater than a man's and this court cannot establish the precedent of special privilege. Thus, your penalty must be the same as would be meted out to a man under similar circumstances."

Upon her plea that stock on her farm would go unfed and unwatered during her incarceration, Judge Kalbfleisch suspended imposition of sentence for two days to permit Mrs. Gage to obtain necessary help to care for her farm animals.

"Should any of your sons be called to service during your jail term," the judge promised, "I will recommend your temporary release to say farewell."

Two of the boys may leave Saturday.

ARTILLERY AND PLANES POUND ROMMEL LINES

U. S. Air Units Join Attack On Axis Armored Force, Transport Bases.

The entire front from west of El Alamein on the Mediterranean coast southward to the Qattara depression meanwhile quieted down following the failure of Rommel's forces to achieve a breakthrough anywhere in the defense line guarding Alexandria and the Suez canal.

Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery, British commander of the imperial Eighth army, declared that on no parts of the front did the Germans and the Italians penetrate the defended areas.

Air activity continued on a major scale with United States bombers and fighters playing a leading role in attacks over the battle area and against Rommel's supply lines and bases behind the front.

Aerial duels between the Luftwaffe and American, British and South African Air Forces were said to have reached a peak equal to the height of the battling when Rommel made his swift sweep across Libya and into mid-Egypt.

United States Army Air corps planes ranged far out over the Mediterranean to attack Axis shipping and blast the Nazi-held port of Candia on the island of Crete.

A direct hit was scored by the American bombers on a merchant vessel in an enemy convoy and several near misses damaged other ships. Direct hits smashed down upon four service vessels in the harbor of Candia and dock facilities were heavily damaged.

Many of the American pilots who went into action to quell the new Axis desert drive fought their first engagements.

Flying speedy pursuit ships the Americans yesterday heavily strafed Axis troop concentrations and all planes returned safely to the base.

Willkie 'Damned Glad' To See U. S. Troops

WITH UNITED STATES FORCES NEAR CAIRO—(AP)—"I just want to say I'm damned glad to see you, God bless you and give 'em hell," Wendell Willkie told American troops today after looking over their big army workshops and repair facilities here.

Willkie was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Russell Maxwell, U. S. army commander in the Middle East, at this base where shell-damaged General Grant tanks were being put back into fighting trim.

Speaking informally to the soldiers, Willkie told them the primary purpose of his stopover in Egypt en route to Chunking and Moscow was to try to focus more attention at home on the Mediterranean front.

He said Americans generally were not sufficiently aware of the importance of this war theater where, he observed, an Axis breakthrough on the western desert would greatly prolong the war.

Willkie spoke privately to Egyptian Prime Minister Nahas Pasha and visited the Pyramids and Sphinx.

Fires in the United States annually cost about 10,000 human lives.

ing "until after the November election" before asking further draft legislation, said he was preparing legislation for the induction of youths under 20. The measure, he said, would embrace the whole question of voluntary distribution of manpower, and cover selection of married men on a basis of age groups and dependencies.

Will Double Women Holding War Jobs

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary Stimson reported today the war department intended to meet a growing manpower shortage by possibly doubling the number of women war workers in army arsenals, depots and office jobs.

About 300,000 women already are working on guns, planes and tanks and filling clerical and supervisory posts, and Stimson told his press conference as many more could be absorbed.

"As far as practicable, women will be employed in preference to men of war service age or capabilities," he explained. "However, this policy will not limit the employment of qualified men who are ineligible for military service by reason of age or physical disability."

War department employing and training officers have been directed to "fully utilize, immediately and effectively, the largest and potentially the finest single source of labor available today—the vast reserve of women power," Stimson said.

Since June 1, he reported the number of skilled women workers in war department activities has risen from three to ten per cent. Almost 35 per cent of the unskilled workers are women.

Age limits for most jobs are 17 to 50 years and there is no bar to married women. Generally women workers must meet civil service requirements.

*It's entirely new, different, patented! Scientific tests prove V.E.P. will make the motor of your car last half again as long as it would using ordinary oil

BEFORE YOU READ another word . . . remember, we're talking facts, not claims. Hundreds of laboratory tests, millions of miles of actual road travel prove, beyond question, that with V. E. P. Alloyed-Oil in your crankcase, your motor will last half again as long as it would with any straight mineral oil. That's right—50% longer—and that means an extra thousand miles of service for two thousand, an extra five thousand for evey ten. Decide, right now, to get this extra motor life . . . to get the savings in gasoline, oil, upkeep, which thousands of motorists are getting by switching to Marathon V. E. P. Alloyed-Oil. Stop in at your Marathon Station, today.

"I bought a used 1939 Buick with 16,000 miles on the speedometer", writes Gerald Hoke of Dayton, Ohio, "and found I had to add a quart of oil every 600 or 700 miles. I changed to V.E.P. motor oil on my dealer's recommendation, and now, I not only do not add any oil between changes, but I also find the valves are freer and the motor runs like new."

CHAPTER XV

"Go and get some sleep, Guy," Paul said. "We'll see that Frani gets to bed when she comes out."

But Guy waited until the door to Daphne's room opened and the young doctor pushed Frani out gently, but commandingly. Then he hurried away, leaving Paul, Marcia and Amy to confront her.

Frani swept across the nursery, exaggeratedly tragic, kicking a Teddy bear out of her way, and went straight to Amy.

"I'd like to know where you were this afternoon," she demanded.

Amy was unprepared for the onslaught. She was worn out with the trek across the hilltop in the rain, with the last hour of anxious waiting. For a second she could not recall what had gone before. Then she looked down at her bedraggled wet brown velvet skirt and said in surprise, "Why I was at the tea!"

"You were—where?"

All of a sudden the thing Amy had done seemed inexcusable to her. She hadn't been given a chance to consider Frani's point of view. But she didn't intend to be evasive.

"In your absence Mr. Dillingham asked me to serve as hostess."

"Hostess! Hostess!" Frani looked as though she were going to strike Amy. "Let me get this straight. You served as hostess in my house while my child—"

"Oh, cut it out, Frani," Paul said. "Don't put on a Shakespearean act. You'd passed out and someone had to help. Guy asked Amy to do it. And that's that."

"Oh, that's that, is it?" Frani said in a husky torch singer's voice. "What about Daphne lying there with a broken hip in the rain! I hired her to take care of Daphne, not to dress up and entertain my guests . . . You cheap little . . . You underhanded little —Get out of my house! Get out, now! Now!"

"Shut up, Frani!" Paul was furious.

Marcia stepped between brother and sister and said in a pleasant, cool voice, "I must go home now, Frani. Good night."

* * *

She turned to Amy, her fair face flushed with indignation as it had been that day Frani had invaded Amy's room. "Could you come with me? I'm afraid to drive alone this time of the night. I think Paul will want to stay with his sister."

"Why—thank you," Amy stammered. "But, I—I—"

Go home with Marcia when she had been planning to take away the man Marcia loved. Accept Marcia's hospitality?

"I'm telling you to get out!" Frani broke in.

Paul grabbed Frani and clapped his hand over her mouth But she struggled in his arms. Finally she managed to shriek, "Help!"

The blond young doctor appeared for an instant. "Quiet in there," he said.

"I'll go with you," Amy said quickly.

The room in which Amy woke the next morning was dove grey —dove grey woodwork, dove grey carpet, dove grey furniture, dove grey wallpaper with gay morning glories climbing over it. A restful, quiet room, on the top floor of one of the best apartment building in the city. But Amy did not feel either restful or quiet. She had a feeling of guilt, Amy Upchurch Tudor, who had never felt inferior. She had a feeling of being against a blank wall whichever way she turned and that life in general was a horrid mess.

When a little chocolate-colored maid peered timidly into the room and said, "Miss Marcia, she say you like breakfast served in bed," Amy sat up quickly. "No, I want to get up right away."

Then she wished she'd stayed in bed for Marcia was so bent upon making her comfortable. Over the sunny breakfast table Marcia said, "I wouldn't mind so much what happened last night. It wasn't your fault. I don't see how you could help accepting when Guy asked you too. And he needed you so terribly. I suppose I could have got over there—but it would have taken me a long time to get ready."

"Paul said—" Amy checked herself. She had started to say, "Paul said you were in Louisville." Paul must have lied and it wasn't quite fair. But it gave her a warm, pleasant feeling that he'd wanted her there.

"Paul said it was all right," Amy finished lamely.

"Of course," Marcia said warmly. "And Amy—if you don't mind —I mean, would you visit me for awhile, until you decide where you want to go? It would give me so much pleasure to have you. You know, I like you, Amy. I liked you the first time I saw you!"

"I like you," Amy answered. She didn't see how anyone could help liking Marcia. She was so sweet in her simple, blue, wool negligee, with her grey eyes so eager and friendly and the sunlight on her coppery hair. She wasn't the sort of person you could cheat, even if you wanted to. Things were a mess!

"Don't try to decide right now," Marcia urged her. And then with an evident desire to change the subject, she said, "I wonder how Daphne is this morning. And Guy. You know, I've known Guy for a long time, he's the finest of the fine. He's just about everything a woman could desire. He's as good-looking as Paul and just as winning."

She was looking out the window, now, with a little silver coffee pot poised in her hand just thinking about Paul. For a moment his name seemed to hang in the air between them.

Then Marcia went on, "I was there the night Guy fell in love with Frani—at a night club. She was singing. Did you ever hear Frani sing? I don't believe she ever sings any more. But I can still see that deep burning in Guy's eyes. And the way Frani looked at him. She had the loveliest smile I ever saw—except Paul's. She must have loved him."

"Perhaps she'll love him again," Amy said.

Marcia shook her head. "He doesn't love her. Did you see the way he looked at her last night? Whatever attracted him to her at first is gone—that sort of wild sweet something. Paul has it too . . . Oh, Amy, help me!"

Marcia pressed her hands to her cheeks in a gesture of desperation. Then she dropped them to her lap and was again her calm sincere self—practical and a little bit stubborn.

"Amy, I want to be married now. You know how long Paul and I have waited—three years. All because of his pride. There's no place for pride these days. Paul's draft number may come up anytime now. And even if it didn't he may enlist. He has said so. He saw things in Europe that so many people don't realize. He doesn't talk much about it. But I know . . . I understand him. If he were to go and I were his wife there is so much I could do. What is money worth if it can't be used to help the man you love? Oh, I don't mean I'd try to buy him favors. Paul would hate that. But I could keep his studio for him. I could have things ready when he comes back."

"He'll come back," Amy said.

Marcia seemed not to have heard her. "You have a convincing way of putting things, Amy. I thought—if you could talk, to Paul . . . He likes you. I can see that. Perhaps you could make him see things my way."

Amy didn't know afterward what she would have said. Probably she would have told Marcia the truth. But the telephone rang and the desk downstairs announced that Mrs. Dillingham was in the lobby and wanted to see Miss Fairbairne.

Frani came in, looking rakish and careless and lovely as though nothing had happened. She said "Don't get up," and stood beside the table looking down at Marcia and Amy.

"I suppose you two have been talking about me."

For once in her life Amy lost her poise. Even Marcia's serenity was shaken. And Amy felt a certain admiration for Frani's ability to disarm them both.

"Oh don't say anything polite," Frani went on. "You wouldn't be human if you hadn't after all that happened last night. Of course you wouldn't say anything nasty about me. Amy's too well-bred and Marcia's too kind."

"Won't you sit down and have a cup of coffee?" Marcia said.

"No, I can say it better standing up. The point is—I came over to admit that I was to blame . . . No, I'm not apologizing to you, Amy. It's none of your business if I get mad at my husband and get tight. I'm sorry I did. I'm sorry as hell, on my own account. Daphne—"

Her eyes filled with tears and she brushed them away angrily.

"How is Daphne?" Amy asked.

"She's all done up in a cast. And she's still shaken by what happened to her. And she's scared stiff. She wants you. I can't do a thing with her. Of course she has the nurse, Miss Bolton, but she keeps asking for 'Tudor.' I was wrong when I said yesterday that it was all your fault. That's no apology either. I'm merely registering what I know is true so that I can feel square with myself . . . I don't like you. And I don't think you like me. I wouldn't if I were in your place. But, look here, Daphne loves you. She's crazy about you. She's just a child and she's going to be in bed for a long time. Somehow you've filled more of a place in her life than anybody, except Guy. Maybe you owe her something. Anyway will you come back?"

MOVE RIVERA'S HUGE MURAL TO SPECIAL HOUSE

Painting Put In Fireproof, Earthquake-Proof Building.

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Diego Rivera's gargantua of the art world—the huge mural which he painted during the San Francisco Exposition—finally has found a home.

The mural originally was to be hung in the library building of the new $4,000,000 San Francisco Junior college, but priorities upset construction of the building and the painting was left in storage on Treasure island.

The U. S. navy, however, which took over the island after the fair, told the board of education they would have to move the huge picture.

Because of its size—the fresco is 92 feet long and 22 feet high—the board of education found it no easy task to find a storage place for the picture. No San Francisco warehouse would store it since it had to stand on end and few warehouse doors were built to accommodate objects 22 feet high.

Finally, after more than a year, the board determined to build its own warehouse on the junior college grounds and constructed a fireproof, earthquake-proof building.

The mural was crated into cases—five of them 16 by 16 and weighing 3½ tons each and five cases 9½ by 16 weighing a ton and a half each and loaded on trucks with the help of a huge crane drafted from a shipyard.

It required seven trucks to move the mural from the island to its shelter in Balboa and cost the city $1,500.

Insured for $50,000 by Lloyds of London, the move was accomplished between midnight and 4 a. m. to avoid heavy traffic and the danger of collision.

Rivera required more than a year of work to complete the painting, which depicts world events from early Spanish days to the first Hitler conquests.

Tells of Parties

Charging him with holding nude swimming parties at his Beverly Hills, Calif., mansion, Mrs. Dorothy C. Lincoln, above, has filed suit for separate maintenance in Los Angeles against her husband, Charles C. Lincoln, jr., wealthy financier of Marion, Va. She is asking $600 a month maintenance.

DELANO TALKS ON OPENING ANOTHER ROAD TO ALASKA

YOUNGSTOWN—(INS)—A juvenile court school hearing program, inaugurated five years ago by Judge Henry P. Beckenbach, and believed the first trial system plan in Ohio, is proving a primary factor in curbing juvenile delinquency, a recent survey revealed.

According to Attorney Morris DeVorkin, a court referee in charge of the system, it is a great aid during national emergency, when the strain on home life would bring a sharp rise in delinquency.

"The plan is worked in cooperation with Youngstown public school officials since virtually all juvenile delinquency is first reflected in school records," DeVorkin said. "Curb the problem there and nine chances out of ten it will be solved permanently."

The theory behind the school hearing program is to let the school work out its own problems and use the real court as a last resort. The "trials" are held in the principal's office where the "problem student" may offer his explanation and his parents tell their story.

This method has reduced juvenile delinquency about 75 per cent, according to the survey.

KANSANS SEE INCOME BOOST

Farmers Expect to Get Highest Income In History.

TOPEKA, Kan. —(U.P.)— Kansas farmers this year will enjoy the highest average income in the state's history, it was indicated by H. L. Collins, state agricultural statistician.

The average income for farmers in the state this year may be near $3,500, Collins said.. There are about 156,000 farm families in the state.

The wheat crop in Kansas this year totaled 175,000,000 bushels, and was the third largest crop in history. Wheat is selling at country elevators at from 93 to 96 cents but most of it is going into the government loan at $1.15.

FLEES SUB TO COVER STORY IN SOLOMONS

Reporter Says Getting News From Tulagi's 'No City Hall Beat.'

Editor's Note—The following account of a brush with an enemy submarine in the Solomon islands was written by Second Lieutenant H. L. Merillat, 27, of Washington, D. C., a marine corps public relations officer with the forces holding the Guadalcanal—Tulagi area of the Solomons.

By LIEUT H. L. MERILLAT

GUADALCANAL, August 15—(Delayed)—News gathering hereabouts is no city hall beat. The success of the navy marine corps operations has given us six islands to cover. That means open water and small boats, which in this area add up to a game of hide and seek with Japs subs.

Tulagi, where the fighting was particularly heavy, is 20 miles away across open water. News from there was scarce until three days ago, when three boats made the crossing. We got up at dawn to go along.

We were late in getting underway and it looked as though we would be out in the middle of the straits about the time the Jap bombers made their daily visit. Our boat was a rather old craft and wouldn't make much speed. The others going over piled into a landing boat, and a tank lighter loaded with gasoline completed old little fleet.

We shoved off at 0855 (8:55 a. m.), on a calm sea with bright skies, ideal visibility for aircraft and subs. We chugged along with incident until 1030 when we sighted a plane approaching low from the east. We grapped our weapons and our gunner turned his machine gun on the plane. It was a false alarm, however, for the plane turned out to be one of our PBY's.

About 1100 we sighted something in the water almost dead ahead, slightly to port, lying off the coast of Florida island. The officer in charge of our boat called to me to take a look: "Is that a sub, Merillat" my specs and field glasses were clouded by spray (I understand why sailors and marines must have good eyes), but I could make out something on the water, about 5,000 yards off.

Our three boats did a sharp turn to starboard, running parallel to Florida. By this time I could make out a sub all too plainly and she was overtaking us fast. Two shells burst a few hundred yards from us.

Then, of all times, our engine started to burn out. Clouds of steam poured from the engine-housing. She clanked and groaned and hissed as if she would explode any moment, and the sub was racing toward us, trying to head us off.

Batteries from Tulagi were firing on the sub by this time. I thought I saw two hits on her, but she kept on coming.

We decided to abandon our tub and frantically signalled the landing boat to pull alongside. At first our signals were misunderstood. I thought they were never coming for us.

But, finally, the landing boat pulled to us, we threw in our gear and then ourselves. My shoes, which I had set on the housing to dry, were left behind.

We felt better for some foolish reason—perhaps because we were all together and in a sound boat. We raced on eastward, watching the exchange between the sub and shore battery. Finally the sub disappeared. We shouted with relief, joked and laughed on the let up of tension. At noon we arrived at Tulagi, feeling very lucky.

The next day we started back at 0430, without much appetite for the trip. We swung far to the eastward from Tulagi and just as we were about to emerge from the cover of Florida saw flashes of gunfire of Guadalcanal. "Subs!" we thought, and we later learned we were right. We lay to for a few minutes and, when the gunfire ended, started across the straits and made the journey without further incident.

The main point of all this is that we did manage to get to Tulagi, Gavutu and Tanambogo, and hear their stories over there.

They had a brave story to tell: The fighting was bitter in that area and the marines there are now veterans and heroes. We had only six hours of daylight and didn't begin to cover the ground adequately, so our stories are not yet complete.

Puts First Aid Training Into Immediate Use

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. —(INS)—Sheppard Field Corp. Joseph P. McGuire of Washington, D. C., displays the resourcefulness sought in every soldier.

McGuire was one of the first non-coms to finish the Red Cross first aid instructors' course at Sheppard Field. Shortly afterward his barrack was quarantined for measles. Instead of just curling up with an improving book for the duration, he put his training to use during the confinement giving first aid lessons to his barrack mates.

Thirty-two men who were quarantined with McGuire completed the standard and advanced courses and became the first class on the field to get their certificates.

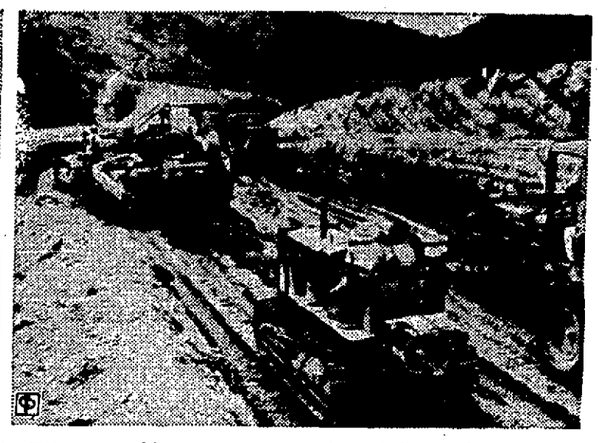
Brazil Rushes Work on Highway Vital to National Defense



Work on a new 4,113-mile highway from Fort Aleza to Port Alegre is being rushed to completion by Brazil because it is regarded as vital to defense of the country. More than 6,000 men are working on the construction of the road, which was started in 1936. A completed section between Rio de Janeiro and Petropilis is shown. In right photo, men are pictured working on another section in mountainous country.

STUDENTS EARN MONEY IN TOYS

Ripon College Employs Needy Students on Novel Project.

(By United Press)

RIPON, Wis. — Ripon college authorities have solved the problem of employing needy students by importing a toy-making industry.

Since February more than 60 students have been earning $5 to $9 a week helping Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Naylor, late of Algonquin, Ill., carve and decorate wooden figurines. The Naylors are established in a rambling old house owned by the college.

Naylor started wood carving in 1934 when he lost his job as shop manager for a Chicago electrical concern. He and his wife recalled that European families made livings out of creating tiny replicas of the characters in fairy tales and local legends.

With materials gathered in junk yards, Naylor put together a lathe and began turning out figurines for his wife to paint. Their product soon became so popular that they moved to Algoquin and expanded their workshop.

Ripon authorities, casting about for a solution to student unemployment, heard of the Naylor enterprise and offered the use of an old house just off the campus if the toy-makers would employ college men and women.

Now the students are acquiring new skills and extra money while the Naylor Toy Shop is putting out figurines at the rate of 200,000 per year.

Hostesses for the first affair were the Misses Mary Gramly and Marilyn Pugh, who entertained at the home of the former. Mrs. Robert Zaebst gave the party last evening at her home on West Sixth street. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Martha Willson.

Fourteen guests gave a towel shower for Miss Bates and spent Tuesday evening hemming and decorating dust cloths for her. Prize for the most unique dust cloth went to Miss Miriam Pugh. Mrs. Leonard Boebel's dust cloth was judged the most practical and the prize in another contest was won by Mrs. Arthur Lindley. All of the awards were presented to the honoree. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the appointments when luncheon was served.

At Mrs. Zaebst's party, 16 guests presented Miss Bates with a shower of bathroom gifts. Mrs. J. P. Keller, Mrs. Raymond Beal and Miss Donna Jean Truman gave their bingo prizes to the bride-to-be. Gifts for Miss Bates were hidden in various rooms of the home. Alarm clocks rang to reveal cards containing directions for finding the hiding places. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with fall flowers.

Ask President to Represent Them

Mrs. Edith Snyder carried out full routine and ritualistic work at the meeting yesterday of Auxiliary 100 to the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war, at the Memorial building. A Red Cross report was given by Mrs. Dorothy Wilmoth.

For the 57th national convention in Indianapolis the week of Sept. 12, the group asked their president to represent them. They also indorsed Mrs Edith Nile from Alliance, for the national presidential candidate at the convention. Next meeting will be on Sept. 16.

Golden Link Club Has Meeting And Dinner

Members of the Golden Link club were entertained by Mrs. Ray Loughman at her home, 112 Ford street, Wednesday afternoon. After the business session, a program of readings was given by Mrs. William Bender and Mrs. Otto Miller. Cards were the afternoon diversion. Prizes were won by Mrs. Edward Wendland and Mrs. Stephen Balliett.

At 6 o'clock, dinner was served at a long table decorated with fall flowers. Mrs. Wendland will be hostess at her home, 221 South Mulberry street, for the Oct. 7 meeting.

HOROSCOPE

FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4.

This is a day of conflicting or mixed influences according to the astrologers. While there may be outstanding or surprising events, perhaps with the public interests at stake, or concerning sudden change, travel or new adventures, yet the whole situation may be beset with danger from intrigue, subtle and undercover tactics or entanglements. Imposition, misconstructions, treachery and fraud may rise to the surface, but at the same time there may be unforeseen or surprising help. Be careful and alert in travel, writings and social contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may run into a year of confusing and contradictory circumstances, demanding their utmost vigilance, circumspection and clear thinking as well as sagacious tactics. With care there should be worthwhile or surprising accomplishment, which might attract public approval or support. But be alert to duplicity, fraud, misconception of motives or writings. Travel cautiously and be prepared for craft or intrigue in romantic relations.

A child born on this day should be exceptional in some directions which might attract public or community support But it may require early training and discipline as to integrity, honor and sound principle.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

LENGTH VS. STRENGTH

Repeated bids of the same suit by your partner show greater length in the suit. But at the same time each additional bid of it, except a jump, indicates the probability of less honor strength in the hand. For the more distributional strength a player has, the less honor power he requires. Consequently, when he rebids the same suit a couple of times, thereby disclosing at least six-card length, you had better be wary about raising him unless you can furnish enough honor strength to make up for his probable weakness in top cards.

	♠ Q J 10 7 4 3 ♥ 4 3 ♦ A 6 5 4 ♣ S

South never should have tried that last bid of 4-Spades, unless he had eaten more than his usual number of eggs at breakfast and felt both strong and lucky, or unless he thought he could count on his opponents to help him out. He explained that, when he heard North bid spades for the third time, he knew the suit was at least six cards and so his own two would constitute safe support. That was true, but the third spade bid, also indicated that length of the suit was the main excuse for making the first free bid.

After East led the diamond Q, which West covered with the K, North saw a long chance to make his contract, and tried it. Taking the first trick with the diamond A, he then scored three top clubs, discarding the diamond 4 and 5, then led the club 7, which by now was the highest out. West was tempted to ruff with his K, but thought better of it. Had he done so, North could have discarded the diamond 6, and would have made his contract, losing only two more tricks, to the spade A and heart A.

West did not fall for the ruse, however. He ruffed instead with the spade 2. North over-ruffed, but then was set pronto. When he led the heart 3 to the K, West put on the A, scored his diamond J and spade K, and the spade A still remained out as the setting trick.

Tomorrow's Problem.

What is the best bidding of this deal to exercise practically a sound preference for major suits as opposed to minors?

BIBLE CLUB MEETS.

Mrs. C C. Vermilya, 197 Penn avenue, entertained members of the Ruth-Naomi Bible club at her home Thursday. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. J. H. Mollenkop. Mrs. John Heath conducted the business session. The introduction of Romans was presented by Mrs. D. W. Cummins. Mrs. E. B. Davis, 514 West Fourth street, will be hostess for the meeting on Sept. 16.

Even boys and girls are mobilized in Britain. Seven out of every ten between the ages of 14 and 17 are doing war work.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'm not even going to try," I told Mary, and she sprang to a sitting posture on the side of the bed as if I had prodded with something sharp.

"You mean—" she began, then switched to a protest. "Don't get me wrong," she begged. "I'm willing to go on with the thing, although I'm getting to loathe Steve so heartily that it's all I can do to manage a smile or pleasant word for him. But I promised you and Grandpa Spencer that I'd see this through to a finish, and I'm not going back on my word."

"Didn't you hear what my father said when he told you he thought you had succeeded in locating the document?" I asked quietly.

"Why—why—" she stammered, "I heard him say something about never having to go out alone with Steve again, but I thought he meant on an after-theater spree like this one tonight, and that he still wanted me to keep up the dinner engagements with Steve and Olina."

Spencer's Reasons.

"He does," I rejoined, "but only for a short time.

"No one else could have done as well what you have already done. That is why my father asked you to undertake so disagreeable a task. If the information you obtained had not been so vital in our search for Marion, and in my father's government work, he would not have permitted you to go out with Redfield."

"Oh, I know that," she said quickly.

"But," I went on, "since he has recovered the stolen paper and you have supplied him with so much other valuable data, he feels that the job can be taken over by somebody else who has been on watch."

Steve Closely Watched.

"You mean," she said, "that he has other people watching Steve closely?"

"Stephen Redfield rarely makes a move, sleeping or waking, that isn't known to one or another of my father's agents," I said.

"They must consider the lad important," she commented, trying had to appear nonchalant.

"They do," I told her, "and they hope they are getting near the end of the trail. My father thinks the finding of this paper so important that he believes your work is virtually finished. And he has told you he will not ask you to go out alone with Steve again.

Doubtful About Noel.

"But," I went on reluctantly, "he does wish you and Olina to go out with him two or three times more for dinner, so Stephen won't look for any other motives save Noel's reaction tonight when you make some excuse for not going out with him alone again."

Her forehead wrinkled into a frown.

"That's all right for Steve," she said. I can see your father's viewpoint. But what Noel's going to do I don't know. He's so steamed up over this performance tonight that I think the idea of a dinner date, even with Olina along, will send his thermometer up to the boiling point."

"There's one thing certain," I said with sudden resolution. "You will not have to speak to Noel about this. If you will wait here I shall go over to see him right away, and see what I can do with him."

SEEK METHODS TO PRESERVE FOOD PRODUCTS

Chemist Studies Plans For Drying Perishable Produce.

(By United Press)

GENEVA, N. Y.—Because of the scarcity of tin, food processors are seeking methods of preserving perishable food products, including quick freezing and dehydration, according to Dr. D. K. Tressler, chemist at the New York State Agricultural Experiment station.

Dr. Tressler is making new studies on the drying of fruits and vegetables. He said food preservation is a matter of greater concern in this war than it was in the last.

"Because a large part of our tin supply has been cut off, it will be necessary for us to conserve much of our perishable food by means other than heat sterilization in tin containers," Dr. Tressler said.

"Of course, much food is being preserved in glass, but even if the output of glass containers could be doubled it would suffice for only about one-fourth of the perishable foods now going into cans."

According to Dr. Tressler, more food will be preserved by quick freezing than ever before.

"Doubtless many cold storage plants will be converted into freezers," he said. "But developments in this direction, are definitely limited by the amount of cold storage space available.

"Widespread interest is being shown in the drying of fruits and vegetables. While considerable amounts of dried fruits and vegetables were used in the last war, their palatability and keeping qualities left much to be desired."

To develop dehydration processes that will insure a product that will be both palatable and nutritious, Dr. Tressler explained that special investigations are being pushed. A small experimental dehydration plant, he said, is also being constructed to study the quality and yield of the products upon drying of all of the important vegetables grown in New York state.

"It is hoped, too, that studies can be made on the packaging of dehydrated products," he said. "Dried fruits and vegetables must be packaged in such a way as to be airtight, moisture-proof, and safeguarded against contamination by war gases."

Leper Colony In Philippines To Receive Supplies

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The world's largest leper colony, on the island of Culion, 200 miles south of Manila, is receiving large consignments of medical supplies and food, the Leonard Wood Memorial reported today.

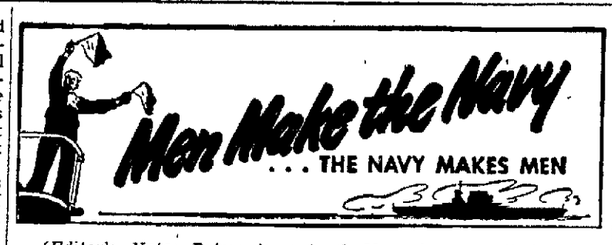
The American Red Cross advised the memorial, founded to aid lepers, that it had received from the international Red Cross committee at Geneva cable "Advising that Culion is receiving large consignments of medical supplies, food and other necessities," despite the Pacific war.

Previously Dr. H. W. Wade, medical director at Culion, had reported on Jan. 11 that the colony had food for only three months and on March 27 a radiogram reported that two boats with supplies for Culion had been destroyed.

CIVILIANS MAKE CHEFS

CAMP BLANDING, Fla.—(U.P.)—Nearly 1,400 soldiers, who in civilian life had followed a variety of occupations, have been trained as army chefs since the school for bakers and cooks was opened here in February, 1941.

Try a Mansfield Classified Ad for Quick Results.



(Editor's Note: Below is a list of questions and answers compiled by the navy department as a source for information for navy recruits in conjunction with the current recruiting drive in Mansfield and the Richland county area.)

Q. May I enlist in the navy, though I have received notice of coming induction under the selective service system?

A. Yes. You can exercise the choice you have under selective service rules. Providing you can meet requirements you can enlist in the navy right up until the moment prior to being sworn in. You are still a "free man" until the oath is administered.

Q. If I fill out an application or ask questions concerning enlistment, am I obligated in any way?

A. No.

Q What is the job in which a fellow usually begins?

A. A man begins as an apprentice seaman and usually holds this rating for about two months, during which time he acquaints himself with the navy generally. During an emergency, many men are enlisted in the Naval Reserve with a rating and sent to active duty immediately.

Q. What are the steps through which a sailor advances to a higher rating?

A. You advance to higher positions through seniority in ratings, selection on the merits of past work and competitive examinations.

Q. How about age limits?

A. The age requirements for the regular navy are from 17 to 31, and from 17 to 50 for the Naval Reserve. Regular navy enlistment is for six years. Those between their 17th and 18th birthdays must enlist for a minority enlistment, reaching until their 21st birthday. Parents' consent is necessary.

Q. What are base pay rates as they stand now?

A. Apprentice seamen, $50; seaman second class, $54; seaman first class, $66; fireman first class, $78; petty officer third class, $78; petty officer, second class, $96; petty officer, first class, $114; chief petty officer (acting) $126; chief petty officer, permanent appointment, $138. These are pay rates per month.

Q. Does the training cost me anything?

A. There is no cost involved. And an apprentice seaman's pay begins the day he is called to active service.

Q. What kind of special training is needed?

A. None is needed prior to enlistment. The navy provides a period of recruit training before assignment to duty aboard a ship of station is made.

Q. How much general education is necessary?

A. It has been found that a high school education is desirable, but not absolutely necessary.

Q. What about dependents and sea duty or foreign service?

A. Add 20 per cent to the above base pay for sea duty and foreign service. Also for those rating below petty officer, second class, add $28 for wife; $12 for first child and $10 for each additional child. For ratings above third class, the dependent allowance is $34.50 per month regardless of the number of dependents.

Jitterbug Pilots Got Rhythm, Turn Out Best Pilots

(Wide World Features)

PORTLAND, Ore. — From the jitter palaces of America may come control of the fighting air, thinks Durward J. von Zeuthen, who is not without the background to judge.

Says this casualty of the China skies, "good flying is a matter of rhythm. The Japs don't have rhythm in their systems, but America's young jitterbugs have lots of it. They get it from their jazz and boogy-woogy dances and they are making the world's best fliers."

Von Zeuthen fought Japs over China in 1937 and 1938, leaving a position as junior engineer in the great Crown Mines, Ltd., at Baguio, the Philippines' largest gold mining operation, to fly for Chiang Kai-shek. For 16 months he gave the Japs the best he had as a pilot for Gen. Andrew Wong. He rose to the rank of major.

But a guy's luck didn't last indefinitely in that business and one day a Zero pilot put a handful of small-calibre bullets through von Zeuthen's P-40 and himself. He fell into the Whang-Po north of Shanghai from which a Chinese family rescued him.

BEST EXTERMINATORS

GENEVA, N. Y. — (U.P.) — Ann Tarr and Margaret Arnold accounted for more rats and mice than any of their masculine competitors in a city school contest to reduce Geneva's rat population.

THIEF HAS BRASS

PORTLAND, Ore.—(U.P.)—Somebody's got a lot of "brass." About 1,500 pounds of brass, valued at $120, was stolen here recently from the Gabriel Fabrication and Erection company.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Bulletin Board.

William Saroyan, the playwright, and Carol Marcus, the 17-year-old deb, are plotting a waltz down the aisle before he goes to work for Uncle Sam . . . Greta Garbo's newest flame is closely related to one of Gotham's most famous dressmakers.

Harry Hopkins and his bride, Louise Macy, will be moving out of the White House soon. She's looking for an apartment in crowded Washington . . . Mickey Rooney will be the next big box office star to climb into uniform.

The lad Wendy Barrie dated most in Saratoga caused plenty of chatter among the horse-and-gambling set . . . Elaine St. Johns, daughter of Writer Adele Rogers St. Johns, took her third groom over the week-end at Annandale, N. J., He's Eric Harnesk, 25, a defense worker at the Pratt-Whitney Aircraft Corp.

The "protge" of a famous film star tried to commit suicide by driving her car into a stone wall the other day—because the actor had jilted her and her career at the same time. A local scribe saved her life

Doris Dowling, of "Beat the Band," and another Martinique showgirl mixed it up over a fellow the other evening. Doris drew a shiner from a flying compact . . . Yvonne Bouvier, the parlez-vous night-club singer, is seeking to quietly divorce her mate, Arthur Bouve.

The Bruce Cabot-Nancy Kelly rumors, which you'll probably be hearing soon, won't be authentic. Her real time-take-upper is an important producer . . Al Jolson's diary of his doughboy tours abroad will be published by a national magazine.

The Lee Dixons (he's the dancer) are divorcing . . Rita Hayworth's studio bosses hope her extended bond tour will make her forget "Beautiful" Mature, but they're kidding themselves.

Congressmen are drafting a law to prevent "essential" entertainers from enlisting. The theory is that the country needs actors in motion pictures, or radio and in the camp shows more than on the front line.

The John Hustons' divorce proceedings have been halted . . . Tony DeMarco and Sally Craven will continue dancing as a team, he says . . . Kitty Carlisle and Comedian Willie Shore are a heart toddy . . . Photographer Ira Hill's lad was on the losing end of a cafe bout the other night.

Raymond Massey rejoins the Canadian army in October. . . . Sam Goldwin is talking about doing a Broadway musical. . . Katharine Hepburn's temperature-raiser is Hollywood's most magnetic (to the glamor girls) star.

The Frank Lovejoys (Joan Banks) are knitting tiny garments. . . . Tex McCrary is bestowing gems on Jinx Falkenberg. . . . Ruth Gordon can't make up her mind whether to say in Hollywood and draw $1,500 a week in pictures or come east and wait around for Garson Kanin to get a furlough.

One of the town's elderly comedians, now in a Broadway hit, was fleeced of his whole pay envelope this week by a young doll who fed him too many cocktails.

Billy Wilkerson, prexy of the Hollywood Reporter, and Dorothy Kelly, a pretty film newcomer, are a heartillery barrage.

Irene Dunne will draw the coveted feminine role in "Angel Street," cinema version. . . . Torch Singer Lee Wiley and Charles Boetcher, of the Air Corps (formerly the airlines biggie), are agog.

Dolly Wydell, Gae Foster's assistant, is now Mrs. Frank Ventre. He's the Roxy arranger. . . Charlie Barnet, the band leader, will enlist in the Coast Guard. . . . King Carol is still trying desperately to get into this country. . . . Dwight Winan's daughter, Trink, and Stewart Martin, of the Air Force, are twitterpated.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Writer James Hilton has written two beautiful love stories into the screen life of the war hero, Croydon M. Wassell.

When C. B. DeMille brings the story to the camera, the hero—then a young horse-and-buggy doctor in an Arkansas plantation town—will see a lovely young schoolmistress stepping from a train. He will tell a friend: "That's the girl I'm going to marry." The girl's name will be Irene Yarnell.

Coons

The courtship, of course, will have its difficulties, and the young doctor will resort to strategy. He knows she has a fear of water. He takes her buggy-riding one day and stops in the middle of a stream. He unhitches one rein and threatens to loosen the other unless the lady says "Yes." She says it.

And so they go to China, where the hero becomes a medical missionary. There is happiness, and grief. One of the three children dies, and then the wife's fear of water is fulfilled. One morning, walking alone near the top of a waterfall, she slips, falls down the precipice and is drowned in the shallow pond below.

The doctor, stunned by the tragedy, nearly throws up his career, but his aged mother comes to him, all the way from Arkansas, to be beside him and sustain him. He goes back to work—heroically—now going hundreds of miles to aid flood sufferers, now stamping out an epidemic, now laboring over his microscope. And at his side is a missionary nurse, Madeline Day, who was his wife's closest friend. Their common loss, their mutual interest in their work, deepens their friendship and they are married.

Writer Hilton is sure the love stories in the picture will ring true. He is sure because they were taken directly from the life of Lieutenant Commander Wassell.

The Washington friends of Mary Byrne, the secretary selected for a month's work in the movies with Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, can rest assured that Mary hasn't "gone Hollywood."

Mary, from the office of Hugh McDiarmid, chief administrative officer in the tin, lead, zinc branch of the OPA, is playing a Washington secretary in "They Got Me Covered." As a girl who has been ambitious to act for a long time, who took drama coaching and little theater work back in Dallas, Tex., and who sang in Washington cocktail lounges, Mary makes no secret of her desire to be kept in the movies, but—

"I'm still a secretary, and I'll be ready to use my return-trip ticket when my time's up," she says.

CENTRAL PARK PROGRAM FOR LABOR DAY SET

Correll to Direct Ceremonies Including Talks By Union Leaders Monday.

Selection of John Correll, 628 Woodville road, president of the Mansfield Teachers union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, as master of ceremonies for the Central park speaking program which will follow Monday's big Labor day parade was announced at last night's meeting of the general arrangements committee.

Others who will appear on the program with Michael J. Harris, Philadelphia, and Sherman Dalrymple, Akron, will be announced at the committee's roundup meeting in Boy Scout headquarters, Elks building, Friday evening. Harris is president of district No. 7, United Steel Workers of America, while Dalrymple is general international vice president of the United Rubber Workers of America, represented locally by U. R. W. A. local 17 at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Sam Morgan, chairman of the athletic events program to be presented in North Lake park Monday afternoon, reported that the Mansfeild Provident Loan company girls' baseball team will play the championship team representing the Cleveland Rangers Athletic club. An all-amateur boxing program of five three-round bouts also will be among the free attractions.

James Anderson reported that a one-hour floor show of 11 acts, featuring Mansfield talent, will be given during the evening's dancing program.

Hopes of having a motorized military unit in the parade were dismissed today upon word from Ohio American Legion headquarters that such a unit would not be available.

A communication addressed to Sam V. Fox, past commander of Earl McVey post from J. J. Saslavsky, department adjutant, said that the department had been advised by the War department that all units within the distance of Mansfield would be engaged in maneuvers Labor day. Other units are stationed at such distance as to preclude participation because of training schedule and the conservation of tires and gas, the communication said.

Drivers or cars or trucks which will tow floats are directed to report at the Armory at 9 a. m. to obtain their displays and to be in their assigned division places by 9:30 a. m.

PICNIC SUNDAY

Marketing Protest Group to Hear Lemke at Plymouth.

Members of the Richland, Erie, and Seneca county organizations of the Marketing Protest association will hold a picnic meeting Sunday at Mary Fate park in Plymouth, H. H. Fackler, chairman of the Richland county group, announced today.

Speakers at the afternoon meeting are expected to be William Lemke, former North Dakota congressman, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy of Washington, D. C. Kennedy is legislative agent for the farmer group.

Fackler said Lemke will discuss the wheat penalty case which he will argue before the supreme court Oct. 12 in Washington.

The picnic will be open to all farmers who are interested in the association's campaign against government wheat marketing quotas and penalties, Fackler said. The Ganges band will play.

WORKERS STRIKE AGAINST SELVES

Fail to Agree on Demands To Own Men So They Walk Out on Own Company.

(By International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS— Negotiations sought today to bring a settlement in one of the strangest strikes on record, in which the strikers, in effect, are striking against themselves and are at loggerheads with the directorate which they chose from their own ranks.

Besides, the employes own 67 per cent of the firm's stock and share in the profits.

When they were unable to come to any agreement after presenting their demands to themselves, that is, to their own representatives in the management, 200 workers at the Columbia Conserve company, a canning factory, followed the time-honored labor custom and walked out.

The strikers are members of a recently formed AFL union and one of their demands was a guarantee of 52 weeks work a year. This the management refused, but the workers stood pat despite an offer of 10 cents more an hour than they demanded.

President of the firm is W. P. Hapgood, brother of the late Norman Hapgood, minister to Denmark in the Wilson administration. The experiment of an employe-share-the-profit plan was inaugurated in 1917 and provoked much interest among labor economists.

Workers' salaries are controlled largely by themselves and fluctuate according to business.

MARSHALL RITES TO BE FRIDAY

Widow To Be Buried In Mansfield Cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillian C. Marshall, 77, widow of John C. Marshall, who died yesterday at her home, 227 South Main street, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Finefrock funeral home. Rev. David H. Roller of the First Presbyterian church will officiate, assisted by Rev. C. L. Kern of the Main Street Evangelical church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Mrs. Marshall operated the old Busy Bee notions store on North Main street for more than 40 years. She was a well known resident of the north end of the city and for her charity work in that section.

WEATHER BUREAU ASKS NATURAL BLOND HAIR FOR RADIO TUBES

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Wanted: Feminine, blond, undyed hair at least 22 inches long; reward, $1.00 per ounce.

In this fashion the weather bureau today urged American blonds to exchange their hair for war bonds. Blond, 22-inch long hair is essential to the manufacture of the "radio sonde," a one-tube radio set which is attached to a free balloon and sent 12 miles above the earth's surface to gather weather information.

The "radio sonde" sends out a constant impulse which changes in degree as the strands of human hair within the radio respond to changes in atmospheric pressure, humidity and temperature. Use of the radio sets and balloons, sent aloft from 60 U. S. weather stations and from American ships at sea, enables the bureau to predict weather conditions as much as five days in advance.

Its regular hair market in the Balkan and Scandinavian countries cut off by the war, the weather bureau is seeking "non-treated hair" in the United States. The terms refers to hair that has never been dyed or treated with hot irons or by permanent wave machines

Brunet hair and "treated" hair, the bureau has found, is not sensitive enough to record the weather changes.

The bureau requests that all women wishing to volunteer their hair send a sample to B. Russell Shaw, Washington Institute of Technology, College Park, Md. Accepted hair will be paid for in war stamps and bonds at the prevailing price of $1.00 per ounce.

The weather bureau recalled that the war department had recently appealed to the American women for hair to be used in bomb sights. The response was so overwhelming—even senators were sent hair for the war department—that the army now has an oversupply and has had to rescind its request.

BRISK SALE

Postoffice Sells $7,065 In War Stamps In 3 Days.

A bumper three-day sale of war stamps was announced today by Assistant Postmaster W. T. Houston, who reported total sales amounting to $7,065 in Mansfield for the first three days of this week.

"That's more stamps than have ever been sold in Mansfield in such a short period," said Houston.

The Mansfield postoffice is the principal sales depot for war stamps.

Yesterday's sales reached a new peak as $2,735 worth of stamps were sold in the city, as compared with sales amounting to $2,635 on Tuesday and $1,635 on Monday.

INFANT DIES

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Putnam Succumbs at General Hospital.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Putnam, 597 West Fourth street, died at General hospital yesterday shortly after birth. Survivors besides the parents are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs Clyde Putnam, of Petroleum, Va., and great-grandparents, Edgar Aplin of Mansfield, Mrs. J. B. Putnam and Mrs. J. D. Stanley of Petroleum.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home. Services will be conducted Thursday at 1 p. m. at the grave in Mansfield cemetery.

"I want to bet on the horse that always has its picture taken with flowers around its neck."

Although new hobbies are popping up from time to time, Scoutmaster Floyd Dent believes that his is one of the most interesting ones in the city. Ever since Mansfield men began leaving the city for the armed forces, Dent has been building a file of pictures of the men in service, taken by himself, whenever they happen to drop into his office on leave. In addition to having one wall of his photo lab covered with these "service shots," Dent has one of the longest correspondence lists in the city. He writes to every Mansfielder in the service who writes to him, once a week, often answering as many as 50 or 60 letters a week.

Harry Wicket, 41 Library court, is serving a five-day pondering period in county jail, meditating the penalties for uncontrolled wrath. During the hearing of a minor civil suit in municipal court, Tuesday afternoon, Wicket—seeking to collect wages he claimed due on a house-painting agreement—became angered as Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch expounded on the various phases of the law involved. "What are you trying to do, beat me out of my money?" Wicket shouted. He calmed down temporarily following a stern rebuke from the bench, the judge remarking, "I've listened patiently to your story, you surely should listen to mine." Shortly after he had subsided, Wicket again let his anger flare up. Kalbfleisch summoned Police Lieut Bruce Friday who arrested Wicket on the charge of contempt of court Kalbfleisch then sentenced him to serve five days in jail.

Scores of new brides in Mansfield won't be eligible to vote in the November election unless they register under their new names with the county board of elections. The state election laws require married women to re-register when they change their names. Because of the larger number of marriages as a result of the war, Clerk Philip Wolfe of the election board said more women than usual will have to register again with the board before Oct. 5. Registrations are required of women who have married since they registered the last time. It's also required of new voters who have just reached 21, new residents of the city, and persons who were registered but who have failed to vote at the last two elections.

CLAIMS SON

Constance Bennett Says Boy Entitled to Plant Estate.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Constance Bennett, the actress, said today that Peter Bennett Plant was her own son and the son of the late Phillip Plant, Broadway figure and sportsman, and she would appeal a court action holding the boy not entitled to $550,000 of Plant's estate.

Probate Judge Arthur P. Anderson ruled Wednesday at Groton, Conn., that the 13-year-old Peter was adopted and not the blood son of Miss Bennett and Plant. Consequently, he ruled, the boy was not entitled to the money.

Plant was the second of Miss Bennett's four husbands.

The money was assigned by Plant to his mother, Mrs. Mae Manwaring Hayward of New York City, in his will.

WILL GET 700 HOUSING UNITS

Marion, Lima Listed for Building Of New Homes.

WASHINGTON — (U.P) — Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., said yesterday that war housing officials have approved construction of 201 units at Lima and 500 at Marion to help relieve the shortage of homes for Ohio war workers.

He said indications are the number of units at Marion will be increased shortly to keep pace with the influx of war workers into the area.

The housing administration, Taft said, would give no further details of the Lima and Marion projects.

Secretary Wants Post Vacated as Baumhart Joins Navy.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— John R. Berry, 48, Norwalk Republican who has been serving as Rep. A. D. Baumhart's secretary, today notified Secretary of State John E. Sweeney that he would be a candidate to succeed Baumhart as the Republican congressional nominee from the 13th district.

Baumhart resigned to accept a naval commission and his successor on the November ballot is to be chosen by a committee of district party leaders.

NELSON TALKS WITH LEADERS ON DEMANDS

Six-Man Committee Seeking Part In Guiding War Production Policy.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Organized labor carried directly to Donald M. Nelson today its demand for "a place at the top" in guiding production policy and for labor representation on the war production board itself.

As an outgrowth of representations made by the leaders of 20 AFL and CIO unions at last week's labor-WPB conference on materials shortages, WPB Chairman Nelson arranged to sit down with a six-man labor committee for what he called an afternoon of "the frankest kind of talk."

Meantime, sources refusing to be quoted by name, predicted Nelson would grant labor a voice in drafting production policy equivalent to that of other board members. They also expressed belief the council table chair vacated by Sidney Hillman would be filled by Wendell Lund of Detroit.

Hillman has not attended a board session since the labor division which he headed was abolished months ago and replaced by the labor production division under Lund.

Speculation centered on Lund as a probable choice both because he is, in a sense, Hillman's successor in WPB and because he has no labor affiliation which would make him objectionable to either CIO or AFL. A former director of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission, Lund was named to his present job with approval of both labor factions.

The labor officials last week accused WPB of being "unbalanced and one-sided" in its approach to war production because they said key positions were held by men whose "experience and background are those of corporate management." This strong language was subsequently stricken from a resolution presented to Nelson, but not until it had been read to him in connection with presentation of the labor program.

Nelson asked for more specific suggestions and ideas, to be presented by a smaller group, and gave assurance they would get earnest consideration.

The six-man committee chosen by the labor officials to present their program is the AFL-CIO labor policy committee created by Lund to advise him on production policy and labor's role in the war effort.

The CIO members are Walter P Reuther of the United Automobile Workers; John Green, head of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, and Clinton S. Golden of the United Steel Workers of America. The AFL representatives are Frank P. Fenton, director of organization; John P. Frey, head of the metal trades department, and George Masterson, president of the Plumbers and Steamfitters association.

Rug Cutters Must Cut Out All Zoot Suits, Juke Coats

WASHINGTON —(AP)— You jitterbugs in the zoot suits with the drape shapes and the juke coats are also in a jam—so jettison the jive and give with the ears while the War Production board swings out on the down beat.

Hitting the blue note softly, this is it:

Male rug-cutters with long coattails, baggy knees and chest-high britches are in for a scissors session. And the gal gates with low-slung jackets also are slated for the shears.

Frank Walton, deputy chief of WPB's textile, clothing and leather branch, says these "so-called garments" violate the men's and women's clothing simplification orders.

The men's zoot suit is a hepcat's garb and the coat is something sharp. It swirls from knee to ankle-length and flips when the tune gets peppy. The trousers are ankle-snug and loose at the knees—like a track team's sweat pants—and rise so high that a gun in the belt could be worn like a shoulder holster.

The juke coat is a solid set of thread. It's a women's jacket, cut long to look like the men's.

Walton says, "We are going to recommend that action be taken against all manufacturers found violating these orders, as well as distributors handling these suits and coats."

SERVICE, WAR JOBS SNATCHING STATE WORKERS

3,000 Gone, Says State Civil Service, and Many Are Irreplaceable.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—The war, through calls to military service and the creation of better-paying jobs in war industries, has cost the state more than 3,000 of its approximately 20,000 workers, state Civil Service Commission Chairman Gertrude Jones said today.

"And the worst of it is," she added in commenting on the acute man-power shortage, "is that it's almost impossible to replace them—particularly in the scientific, professional or technical fields, where the loss has been proportionately greatest."

A total of 1,069 military leaves—559 of them in the huge highway department alone—have been granted to workers called to the colors, while at least twice that many, according to Miss Jones, have quit to accept better-paying jobs.

"We don't know what to do about it, for the end is not in sight," she said. "Calls to military service continue, and we are constantly besieged with demands for wage increases accompanied by threats to resign if increases are not granted.

"Most of our salary ranges are set by statute, and we are powerless to grant increases above a set level, and hence powerless to prevent the continued loss of valuable workers."

Proportionately, perhaps the hardest hit department is the State Health department, which, according to Director R. H. Markwith, has lost 45 per cent of its top technicians and physicians and 50 per cent of its engineers to the armed forces alone. Calls to industrial plants have increased his total losses to a point where he summed them up in a single word—"tremendous."

His staff, much of it engaged in vital blood tests for the army, is required to work far into the night to get out its work, Dr. Markwith said, and the possibility of alleviating the shortage is not in sight.

The labor problem is easing off a bit at present for the highway department, largest employer in the state government with about 7,500 workers normally, since the construction season is nearing an end.

However, Assistant Director Glenn R. Logue said his department had lost at least 1,250 men in addition to the 559 granted military leaves, and that the technical men, engineers, surveyors and inspectors, who had entered the armed forces or private employment were irreplaceable.

The highway patrol has lost about 50 of its 300 officers, most of them to the army although some quit to direct guard duties in war plants.

The State Welfare department, parent organization of the 22 state institutions," is short 400 workers right this minute," said Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood.

The Conservation commission has lost about eight per cent of its field men to the armed forces and an additional five per cent to private jobs.

State Tax Commissioner William S. Evatt, whose nearly 700 employes are for the most part accountants, lawyers or other technical men, has experienced perhaps the least difficulty, although top men of his department could command almost double their present salaries in private employment.

"They're looking to the future," Evatt said. "State jobs may not be so good in these boom times, but they are permanent and very desirable under ordinary circumstances."

Urges Wardens To Get Helmets For Labor Day Parade

All Civilian Defense air raid wardens and others not otherwise notified were asked today by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, co-ordinator of the city's defense groups to obtain their helmets between 1 and 4 p. m. at defense headquarters, third floor of City Hall, Friday, or from the police or central fire stations Friday evening.

Kalbfleisch yesterday contacted heads of all defense zones, urging 100 per cent attendance in Monday's Labor Day parade. It is expected, he said, that identifying arm bands and other equipment will be received in time for display in the pageant.

Helmets and other material will be issued on memorandum receipt, all articles remaining the property of the United States. Each article has been or will be so stamped.

Auxiliary police and firemen will receive their helmets at meetings called by Police Captain Jesse J. Schwab and Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger, for 7:30 p. m. Friday.

GARDENS FOR VICTORY AT 90

MIDLAND, O.—(U.P.)—Midland's outstanding victory gardener is Mrs. Mandy Bosier, who recently observed her 90th birthday. She said that gardening is a great tonic and keeps her feeling "in good condition." Mrs. Bosier also keeps house for herself and two children at home.

RAF COASTAL COMMAND NOW FED ON SCIENTIFIC BASIS

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Crews of Royal Air Force coastal command flying boats out on operational flights, which sometimes last over twenty-four hours are today fed on a scientific basis.

Gone are the days when a few odds and ends such as hot soup and tea were poured into vacuum flask and eked out with bread, margarine and chocolate.

This type of feeding induced excessive fatigue and loss of mental alertness—fatal when the safety of a valuable convoy may depend on the vigilance of the aircraft's crew.

Examination by medical experts of RAF crews at a Scottish flying boat station, the British Air Ministry recently disclosed, revealed that while the airmen did not complain of fatigue, all other evidence showed them to be exhausted.

Mental alertness in the crews showed a very definite lag, particularly in radio operators, and while visual acuteness did not suffer this was due to liberal administrations of a vitamin extract.

But this has all been changed. Each flying boat is now equipped with an oil cooking stove which can deal with a wide variety of foodstuffs.

After the stoves had been introduced as a more or less standard issue new medical tests were made and the alteration in the outlook of the crews was found to be phenomenal.

"On long operational flights," one RAF medical officer stated, "fatigue was negligible. In comparison with shorter flights on poor rations the difference was amazing—even to the much shorter mental lag."

Now no flying boat takes off from this particular station without its standard ration box. A central flying station store has been established there staffed by members of the British Woman's Auxiliary Air Force.

A balanced diet has been worked out from charts provided by medical experts.

The following is a typical menu for a flight up to twenty hours—Breakfast: Cornflakes, bacon and egg, bread and butter, sugar and milk.

Lunch: Steak, potatoes, fresh vegetables, dried fruit and milk.

Tea: Tea, bread and butter, cheese, milk and sugar.

Supper: Milk, tea, sardines, bread and butter, and sugar.

COSTLY ITEM

UNIONTOWN, Pa. — (U.P.) — Frank Martin, 40, of Cleveland, spent $102.38 for a piece of paper showing he was born in the United States.

Born at South Connelsville, Pa., July 15, 1902, Martin was informed neither Fayette county nor the state capital had a record of his birth. Martin needed a birth certificate for a defense job.

Coming to Uniontown to solve the problem, Martin spent $16.88 in railroad fare; $2.50 for affidavits; $3 for court approval, meanwhile losing $80 in wages for time away from his job.

The original Panama City, founded in 1519, was destroyed by Morgan the buccaneer in 1671.

REVEALS NAZI PARACHUTISTS DOPE SELVES BEFORE JUMPING

(By International News Service)

LONDON—All German parachutists dope themselves before leaving their aircraft. In addition, each man carries about a dozen packages of dope that looks like chewing gum.

These facts were revealed by Lt. G. W. Turner-Lashmar in a lecture to British troops of the Southern (English) Command on his experiences in Crete.

"The dope they use," he said, "neutralizes their fear and gives them a feeling of exhilaration.

"A total of ten thousand German parachutists were dropped on Crete. We captured the identity cards of between eight and nine thousand of them.

"It was not the parachute corps that took Crete, but the airborne troops who followed them. They showed utter disregard of losses. We couldn't kill them fast enough before we were overwhelmed.

"On one aidrome alone, I counted 250 crashed Junkers transports and there were 40 or 50 more nearby. The whole battle was utterly fantastic."

To deal with parachutists, Lashmar advised, the first essential is to collect the containers dropped from each plane. Without their contents—tommy-guns, automatic rifles, radio sets—the parachutists will not be able to carry out their alloted destruction.

The second essential is to prevent the invaders from rallying together under their leaders. The best period to deal with them is within 30 seconds of their landing.

COLLECTION DESTROYED

THE DALLES, Ore.—(U.P.)—One of the most complete collections of counted animal heads, stuffed animals and relics of pioneer days in the northwest was destroyed when the historic pioneer saloon, "The Horn," burned down here.

THEATERS

Island Comedy.

The comic adventures of a pair of mid-western bus drivers who find themselves shipwrecked on an uncharted South Sea isle continue to furnish fun in the Ohio attraction, "Pardon My Sarong," Abbott and Costello play the leads and the cast includes Virginia Bruce and Robert Paige, the Four Ink Spots and the Tip, Tap and Toe, dancing trio. A March of Time subject showing Uncle Sam's navy men in training is included on the bill.

Light Romance.

Hollywood erected a desert ghost-town 45 miles from Phoenix and near Superstition mountain for the Irene Dunne comedy, "Lady In a Jam," showing at the Madison. Miss Dunne has the role of an irresponsible heiress who goes west after losing her money and decides to go to work digging for gold. A psychiatrist and a show-off cowboy people her life with Patric Knowles in the former role and Ralph Bellamy playing the cowboy. Zazu Pitts and Slim Summerville are in the co-feature, "Miss Polly."

Adventure Story.

Romantic drama played against a background of adventure, "The Great Man's Lady," at the Ritz, co-stars Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea. The story begins in old Philadelphia when Miss Stanwyck as a girl of 16 elopes from her home with Joel McCrea, a Lochinvar in buckskins, whose dream is to build a big city on western prairie land. Brian Donlevy in the role of a gambler and adventurer changes the course of their lives. Thurston Hall and Etta McDaniel are in the picture. Will Boyd is featured in "Stick to Your Guns," the second film.

Air Thriller.

Hospital nurses go through the rigorous training and drill that will equip them to parachute from planes and give aid to flyers marooned in otherwise inaccessible spots in "Parachute Nurse," showing at the Park Kay Harris and Marguerite Chapman play the leads as two glamor girls in the paranurse corps. The Los Angeles unit of the Aerial Nurse Corps of America participates in the picture of which the president of the latter organization, Lauretta M. Schimmoler, acted as technical director. "Texas Trouble Shooters," with the Range Busters is the second attraction.

TRAPPER SURVIVES ORDEAL

FAIRBANKS, Alaska—(U.P.)—Alaskans, particularly trappers, must be tough. So when Ray Ruff suffered a ruptured appendix he walked 30 miles in the dead of winter to get medical attention. He survived the operation.

Just before the start of the European war, United States custom receipts were $359,000,000 a year.

LARGE CARGO

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — The steamship Harry Coulby unloaded 16,399 gross tons of iron ore in South Chicago recently. It was the largest cargo of ore ever carried by a Great Lakes vessel—64 tons above the peak established last year by the same vessel.

LIONESS IS MASCOT

SEATTLE, Wash. — (U.P.) — Soldiers of an anti-aircraft battery in the Seattle area are tough. They have a young lioness for a mascot. The troops got the pet from a family which bought the animal as a cub from a circus.

STRIKES COST U. S. HEAVILY IN WAR PRODUCTION

Nation Loses Over Million Man-Days of Work In Seven Months.

WASHINGTON —(U P)— Strikes in war industries caused the loss of 1,130,678 man-days work during the first seven months of this year, the war labor board reported today.

A compilation of lost time from Jan. 1 through Aug. 31 showed that, on the average, eight out of every 10,000 workers were idle because of strikes in industries covered by the report.

The report showed that 295,734 workers ignored the pledge of labor and industry leaders not to strike. The pledge was made at the request of President Roosevelt soon after the United States entered the war.

Non-defense strikes were not included in the compilation of the board. United States conciliation service reports indicated that there usually are three or four times as many non-defense as defense strikes in progress

From Jan. 13, the date the board was established, through Aug. 31, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins sent to the board 459 disputes involving 2,603,823 workers Of that number 88 were strikes involving 84,144 workers

The board reported that man-days lost by strikes in war industries increased from 46,000 in January to a peak of 255,000 for the seven months period in June. The July total was 234,000. Reports for August have not been compiled.

The report showed that during January 13,000 workers involved in 31 strikes lost 46,000 man-days of work. The figures jumped to 27,000 workers, 57 strikes and 119,000 man-days lost in February

The remainder of the seventh-months period showed a constantly increasing number of strikes in progress, more workers involved and more time lost, except for a slight drop during July.

The board has obtained settlements in 205 disputes involving 1,414,394 workers. It has pending at the start of this month 254 disputes involving 1,189,429 workers

Reports to the board and the conciliation service showed there were seven strikes affecting war industries in progress on Sept 1. These involved fewer than 1,500 workers, officials said

Yanks Eat a Hot Meal In Aussie Cold Spell

Members of the AEF in Australia are shown as they took time out for a hot dinner in the field during maneuvers. Judging by the smiles on the faces of the men the meal was a welcome break in the day's tough routine Note the warm clothing worn by the troops, evidence of the cold weather that prevailed in the land down under during the warm U. S. summer.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Of Mansfield high school's football opponents this fall, Springfield's Wildcats will be the first to perform for the public gaze. Coach Jim McDonald, the old Ohio State fullback, has scheduled a practice game for Saturday, and urges all the Wildcat fans to be on hand to watch the operation.

Big Jim Mac believes he has something at Springfield this year, and he doesn't care who knows it. And will he be laying for Mansfield and revenge for that 41 to 0 shellacking handed his, until then, undefeated 'Cats in midseason last fall by the fast flying Tygers!

* * *

Springfield was one of the schools which passed up spring practice in favor of early fall sessions, and the Wildcats are just about in shape for actual play right now. But they have the same opening date as the rest of Ohio high schools, meeting Cincinnati Western Hills Sept. 18.

"The boys have been working hard the last several weeks," McDonald reports, "and this practice game will give them the opportunity to blow off a little steam, and should also show up some of our weaknesses."

McDonald has 12 lettermen back, but misses the 12 he graduated last spring. He says there are still plenty of open spots to be filled on this year's starting lineup.

* * *

Massillon has a wealth of experienced material back to defend a mythical seven-year Ohio championship—and bear stories fill the air at the Tiger lair in big-time gridiron style.

Coach Elwood Kammer appears really worried about the condition of Bob Graber, left halfback and passer, Bob Wallace, guard, Karl Paulik, tackle, and Fred Cardinal, blocking back.

All four wound up the 1941 season with injuries to arms and legs, but last winter it was believed all had recovered. However, the first week of spring practice found them on the bench nursing the old wounds, and while they played in the annual spring game against the graduating Tigers, they were reported at only about 50 per cent efficiency.

Massillon has seven starting veterans back from last year, and loses only one backfield regular, Pokey Blunt. Regulars lost from the line were Joe Demando, end, Bill Fuchs, center, and Jim Hill, right guard.

Compared with the two veterans with which Bud Houghton took over the coaching reins at Ohio's high school football capital a year ago, Kammer is starting with a bright outlook in spite of another heavy schedule.

* * *

Massillon also opens Sept. 18, meeting Cleveland Cathedral Latin, and follows up with the tough Weirton, W. Va., team on Sept. 25.

Durocher Worried By Short Pennant Lead

Leo The Lip Juggles Hurlers Like Hot Eggs.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE Brooklyn Dodgers now have a 4½ game lead in their National league pennant prancing, so who's nervous?

Well, Mr Leo Ernest Durocher, the Dodgers' peerless pilot, appears to be—for one.

What he's been doing with his pitchers in recent days scarcely can be described without a map and seeing-eye dog, but it may be worth a try to prevent posterity from confusing the movements with those of troops.

Yesterday Durocher called on no fewer than five of his best pitchers to curb the futile Cincinnati Reds, 3-2 in 12 innings. From left to right and start to finish his field included Curt Davis, Hugh Casey, Kirby Higbe, Les Webber and Whitlow Wyatt.

Davis started the game, although he had been used for relief two days in a row in the preceding series at Pittsburgh.

Davis was knocked out in the fifth yesterday and Casey took competent charge until removed for a pinch-hitter in the ninth. Then Higbe was sent to the mound. He walked the first batter and immediately was flagged out in favor of Webber. The rookie gave one hit in the tenth and then Durocher, taking no chances, called in Wyatt for his first relief chore of the year.

The Dodger ace finished strongly and gained his 17th victory when a walk, a sacrifice and a single by Arky Vaughan scored a run for Brooklyn in the twelfth.

The defeat was charged to plucky Bucky Walters, who himself made three hits, batted in one Red run and scored the other.

The triumph added another game to Brooklyn's slender margin because the New York Giants slugged out an 8-2 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. Babe Young doubled with the bases loaded for three runs in the third and the Giants tallied two more in the fourth to rout Max Lanier.

The Boston Braves beat the Chicago Cubs, 2-1 in ten innings, after Lon Warneke had held them scoreless for seven frames.

The Pirates stopped the Phils, 5-2, by scoring four runs without a hit in the eighth inning of their night game.

At New York the Yankees swept a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns, 3-2, on Charley Keller's 25th homer in the tenth inning and 6-0 on Hank Borowy's masterful one-hit hurling. The huge mid-week crowd of 27,000 thought it was seeing a no-hitter, not knowing that Harlond Clift's bounder off Joe Gordon's glove in the first inning had been scored as a single instead of an error. When the totals were posted on the scoreboard the fans, already milling jubilantly on the field, booed.

The Cleveland Indians rose into a virtual tie with the Browns for third place in the American league by overwhelming the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-3.

* * *

The Boston Red Sox kept pace with the Yanks by taking a double bill from the Detroit Tigers, 3-2 and 4-2.

The Chicago White Sox whipped the Washington Senators, 8-2 and 7-6, making 17 hits in the first game and 12 in the second.

Senator Lead Threatened

Charleston Has Ten Games In Five Days.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(AP)—Only five days remain in the Mid-Atlantic league season, but despite Charleston's three and one-half game lead over second-place Dayton, the championship is far from decided.

* * *

The league-leading Senators must pack 10 games into those five days and Dayton seven. Then, if Charleston finishes the season in first place but with a margin of two games or less over the Ducks, a post-season doubleheader will determine the pennant winner.

The post-season possibility grows from the postponement of a Dayton-Charleston twin bill at the West Virginia city, Aug. 22.

H E Holmes, Dayton manager, said League President Elmer Daily had ruled that the doubleheader must be played after the regular season if Dayton failed to win the pennant but finished the season within two games of the Senators.

Charleston gained half a game in the standings last night, defeating Springfield 2-1 and 4-2 as Dayton won a single contest 6 to 0 from Erie. Canton blanked Zanesville 10 to 0 to take over third place from Erie.

Henrich Joins Coast Guard

Tommy Henrich, star outfielder of the New York Yankees, is shown in Cleveland as he took the oath upon joining the U. S. Coast Guard. Henrich, a Massillon, O., product, has played outfield for the Yanks for five years.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Fun with a gun: J. F. McConkey, who works in a Wichita, Kan., airplane factory, comes up with a new version of trapshooting that has made a big hit out that way. . . . He calls it "Jap-shooting" . . . Instead of the conventional clay pigeon being tossed from a trap, a guy with a bow shoots a target consisting of a dummy with unmistakable Japanese features rolled up in a parachute. . . . As the Jap glides toward the ground, the marksman with a shotgun gets his crack at it. . . . The Notre Dame football ticket office reports receiving an order from the Solomon islands—merely a marine who wanted to make sure his parents and his girl would see some games.

STARS AND GRIPES.

Here's one reason baseball scouts go nuts: The Cincinnati Reds recently received a letter from a Kentucky village telling of the feats of a local 16-year-old who was hitting .832 and had belted 30 homers in 14 games. . . . A scout was dispatched immediately. . . . A day or so later he came back with a very red face to report that the hero's team averaged eight years in age and the opposition nine.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Dan Parker, New York Daily Mirror: "The MacPhail hesitated until the last minute possible before letting himself in for such competition as Bobo Newsom will give him conversationally. However, the situation called for desperate measures, so there's now an eternal talking triangle in Brooklyn, made up of the lip, the mouth and the tongue."

BRUCE SMITH TOTES LEATHER FOR TARS

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—(INS)—Bruce Smith was certain today of carrying the brunt of the Bluejackets' passing attack as the Great Lakes football squad quickened its practice pace for the opening game against Michigan at Ann Arbor Sept. 26.

Smith stood out among the passers whom Lieut. Paul D. Hinkle, head coach, tried out for his aerial offensive.

Tom Henrich Becomes Rook

Starts From Botton Again in Coast Guard.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—Tommy Henrich, 27-year-old New York Yankee outfielder, slipped the legs that helped him cover the grassy reaches of Yankee stadium into a pair of bellbottomed trousers today and began service as a specialist, first class, in the U. S. coast guard.

Feeling something like a sandlotter braced for his first try in the major leagues, the tanned member of the world's champions said he hopes to buckle down immediately to his duties in the coast guard's physical fitness program.

"I'm just a rookie—a greenhorn," opined Henrich, "but I had to learn baseball just like I'm going to have to learn this business.

"I sure can't say I haven't any regrets about leaving baseball," the Massillon, O., big leaguer commented, "but I know it's time to do my part."

Henrich reported for duty yesterday at Cleveland district headquarters, having enlisted recently after his draft board classified him 1-A. He said he hoped to step right back into a pair of spiked shoes when "this job is done."

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—(INS)—For the first time in 19 years, the U. S. naval academy, hard pressed for veteran athletes, today is allowing freshmen to participate in varsity sports.

WESTFALL INJURED, LOST TO ARMY TEAM

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—(U P)—Pvt Bob Westfall, former Michigan fullback, will not be able to play for the army football team, Col Bob Neyland announced today.

Westfall, one of six players who reported from the college all-star squad, was thrown from his horse three weeks before the all-star game and did not discover that his left elbow was broken until after the all-star contest at Philadelphia Monday night.

IRONTON—(AP)—Only two rural schools in Lawrence county—Coal Grove and South Point—are assured a football season.

Tribe Surprises Fans With 18-Hit Attack and Victory

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Fans of the Cleveland Indians couldn't believe it today when they looked at the boxscore of yesterday's Cleveland-Philadelphia baseball game, but it was true.

Yes sir, the Tribe pounded out 18 hits for a 12 to 3 victory.

* * *

To the fans, that hitting barrage looked like a deluge after the drouth that had held the Clevelanders to less than four runs in the last 24 games.

* * *

And the victory pushed the Tribe within a half-game of the St. Louis Browns, who lost a double-header at New York, and promised a battle royal for third place when Cleveland opens a four-game series at St. Louis tomorrow. It also put the Redskins five games in front of the fifth-place Detroit Tigers, who dropped two at Boston.

Every Cleveland batter got at least one safety in their final eastern game of the season, and Manager Lou Boudreau had a perfect day at bat, getting a double and two singles.

The Indians opened the track meet in the first inning with eight runs, jumping on Lefty Herman Besse for eight hits after two were out.

The Tribe tallied again in the fourth and Cleveland plated two more in the ninth. Tom Ferrick posted his third victory.

Following this slugfest, the Indians rested today before the day-night twin bill opening the St. Louis series.

The Indians acquired three up and coming right-handed pitchers from the minor leagues yesterday.

* * *

Foremost among them is Bryan Stephens of the Cedar Rapids, Ia., club, leading hurler of the Three-I league with 20 victories and four losses. The others are Allie Reynolds, 24, and Paul Calvert, 24 both of whom were purchased from Cleveland's Wilkes-Barre, Pa., farm.

Buckeye Ticket Sale Declines

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Final tabulation of advance season ticket sales for Ohio State university football games disclosed today that this year's figure was 17 per cent below last year's and 8 per cent under the 1940 mark.

Only three of the 45 gridders invited out for practice appeared to be unable to report for preliminary ceremonies Saturday morning prior to the opening of practice Monday. John Placas, Joe Novak and Ken Coleman, all juniors, are in the "improbable" status.

Placas is working in a defense industry, Novak is running a farm but "hoping" he can make it back, while Coleman has not been heard from.

Coach Paul E. Brown and his staff have just returned from a 10-day fishing trip in the Georgian bay and are "rarin' to go."

BIS Boys Don Grid Toggery

Lancaster School Has High Season Hopes.

By ROGER NELSON

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Move over Massillon, and the rest of you mythical high school champions—the Boys Industrial school at Lancaster is donning grid toggery again, it was disclosed today.

Last year, despite numerous organization difficulties, the B. I. S. pigskin patrol made one of the most successful football debuts on record in Ohio interscholastic warfare. With a squad of 32 men, whittled from a field of 167 aspirants, the Lancaster outfit won seven games, lost one and tied two while amassing 286 points to 39 for the opponents.

Prospects for this season are comparatively good in spite of the fact that the turnover of boys is nearly 100 per cent.

* * *

This nearly-complete turnover of material makes coaching a hazardous job, especially in view of the fact that the majority of the boys received at the school have little or no athletic background. In this, Coach Glenn S "Yip" Owen must build all of his own material.

The school abides by the rules and regulations of the Ohio High School Athletic association — and there is no subsidation of players.

Construction of a new football field is started, and although it will not be ready for use this year, it serves as insurance that the profitable diversion will continue in years to come.

Although no "A" or "B" rating has been given the school, it probably would be categoried in the latter group as most of the opposition is furnished by smaller schools in the central and southern Ohio area.

Six of a proposed 10-game schedule has been filled and Coach Owen is seeking additional games for his open dates, Oct. 23 and 30, Nov. 13 and 20. The opener is carded against Mifflin Sept. 18 and succeeding games include Newark, Roseville, Groveport, Ohio Deaf and Xenia O. S. S. O.

The team travels in its own institutional buses and will play all games away from home this year.

Owen, a product of Denison university where he gained the reputation of being one of the greatest punters in the state of Ohio for all-time, just took over the mentoring helm this fall, replacing Lou Katz, who is now in the armed forces.

Some 150 candidates greeted Owen the first day of practice last week but the squad has been cut to 40 players which will probably be retained for the remainder of the season. Owen's coaching background includes posts at Martins Ferry, Corey, Pa, and Wellington, Ohio.

The uniform provided through the auspices of the American Legion—are those worn by the Ohio college all-stars when they tangled in a charity game with the Cleveland Rams last year in the lakefront city.

Jockey Adams Rides 6 Winners

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Jockey Johnny Adams was closer to national jockey honors today following sensational riding at Thistle Down where he rode six winners and booted in two seconds.

The second six-win day in the career of the 27-year-old rider, he wound up the day at Thistle Down yesterday with a total of 150 winners for the season, 11 behind the first-place score of injured Eric Guerin who is not expected to ride again for several weeks.

The saddle veteran, in one of the flashiest displays of turf work this year, brought home Queen Echo, the favorite in the first race, and Try Fin, odds on favorite, in the second, without effort, leading all the way.

He drove Lochlea in first in the third, and moved second choice Hover from ninth in line to win the fourth. In the sixth and featured race, Adams rode Dead Level, a 5 to 1 shot, to victory. In the final race, he brought Slight Error, an 8 to 1 shot, from the last position to win again

Adams missed the fifth by a photo finish on O. K. Joe and brought Fond Hopes home second in the seventh.

Although leading rider, at Thistle Downs, Adams did not have a winner the day before and failed miserably Sunday when he rode in the $10,000 Longacres miles on the west coast. He had airplaned to the coast Saturday night and flew back to Cleveland Monday.

COACH NAMED

COLUMBUS—(INS)—C. L. Hannahs today was the new coach at Columbus academy. Hannahs, a Rio Grande product, succeeds Bill Hunt, who recently was granted a naval commission. The new prepster mentor has previously coached in Sisterville, W. Va.; Adena, O.; Marion, Nelsonville, Proctorville and Rio Grande.

PLAY IN AFTERNOON

IRONTON —(AP)— Basketball games in Lawrence county next season will be played Friday afternoons with faculty members officiating to save expense, high school principals agreed.

BUCYRUS HAS ITS SENIOR TOURNEY

BUCYRUS — Play for the Chuck-Walt golf trophy, offered each season by C. A. Michael and Walter J. Michael will be in progress Sunday and Monday at the Bucyrus Country club. Players will be confined to those past 35 years of age as has been the custom in former years.

Semi-finals in the President's Cup matches are now being played off at the club.

Whistlemen Lost to Army

Ohio's Striped Shirts Now Wear Other Uniforms.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—There will be a shortage of top-notch football officials this fall because at least 20 members of the Ohio Association of Football officials have entered the armed forces.

H. W. Emswiler, secretary of the association, said today that "I'm having my worst troubles in 20 years trying to get officials."

* * *

The OAFO, affiliated with the National Collegiate Athletic association, has at least one lieutenant colonel in the service. He is C. L. Spillers of Charleston, W. Va., a Washington-Jefferson graduate.

Other association members in uniform include Kent A. Pfeiffer and Don Schwartz, both of Columbus; Gar Griffith, Upepr Arlington; Clayton Schlemmer, Cleveland; Harold Kinzig, Dayton; H. J. Lindell, East Liverpool; M. J. Meyer, Camp Beauregard, La. L. W. Robinson, Gallipolis; Ralph Bauer, Elyria.

L. E. Gill, McArthur; A. E. Hittepole, Canal Winchester; J. H. Miller, Newark; Clifford Orr, Newark, Joe Scott, Troy; William Vallery, Waverly; Edwin Garman, Akron; Verlin Jenkins, Akron; J. M. Crowley and Frank Lane, both of Cincinnati, and C. E. Branin, Dayton.

Eight have been advanced from associate to active officials. They are, Charles Koterba, Gosnell Layman and W. N. Griffith, all of Columbus; Erv Carlisle, Delaware; Jake Miller, Huntington, W. Va.; W. A. Scott, Bedford; F. G. Skibbie, Bowling Green, and Jay Winters, Bucyrus.

Admitted to the association as new members were Ross Bartchy, Toledo; Paul Cain, Cincinnati; Leo Sack, Cincinnati; Ralph Webster, Columbus; Carl Cramer, Dayton; Don Hamilton, Columbus; J. K. Russ, Youngstown; Toby Chandler, Charleston, W. Va.; W. K. Dunton, Piqua, and Colin Stewart, Cincinnati.

* * *

The "whistle-tooters" association will hold its annual rules interpretation meeting in Columbus on Sept. 12.

Birds Again Tie for Top

Second Division Clubs Bump Off AA Leaders.

Even the American association's second division clubs, almost forgotten in the spectacular pennant fight being waged in the upper bracket, are being heard from as the race enters its final five days of action.

Last night all celebrated with victories over the leaders, although Indianapolis, after defeating Columbus in the first game of a double-header, 9-1, lost the second 5-4.

For Columbus, the even split enabled it to jump from third to a first place tie with Kansas City, since the Blues and Second Place Milwaukee both lost. Another first division change resulted when Louisville, beaten twice by Toledo Tuesday, turned the tables in a double header last night and regained fourth place from the Mudhens

The standings today read:

	W	L	Pct.
Kansas City	81	67	.547
Columbus	81	67	.547
Milwaukee	79	66	.545
Louisville	76	72	.514

Kansas City, winner of six straight games, lost, to Minneapolis, 5 to 2, last night. St. Paul downed Milwaukee 5 to 4, and Louisville scored a double win over Toledo, 8-1 and 4-2.

Madison Plays Practice Game

GALION — Coach Jim Lymper said Wednesday that the Galion football squad will meet their first practice opponents on Friday, Sept. 11, when the Mansfield Madison will come here.

Lymper, assisted by Fred Staub, newly elected assistant coach, has completed two days of practice session, and have hopes of developing a light but fast squad which will give Galion its first good season in several years.

The line-up will not be announced for some time yet, and scrimmage will begin next week. The Junior high school team coached by Robert Sheffer will begin practice next Tuesday.

Tiffin Calvert will be the opening opponents when the season officially begins Friday night, September 16.

LEAGUE QUITS

NEW YORK—(AP)—The American professional football league will not operate this year and possibly not for the duration, William B. Cox, president of the circuit's New York club, announced.

Joins Dodgers

BUCK NEWSOM, the loquacious righthander of the Washington Nats, goes to the Brooklyn Dodgers in a deal which has been on the fire for some months. Waivers had to be obtained on Newsom but the purchase price is believed to have exceeded the regular waiver price of $7,500.

Girl Champion Reaches Finals

Meredith Fisher Wins Over Viola Gregoria.

Meredith Fisher, newly crowned champion of the girls' division of The News-Journal city tennis tournament, last night moved into the finals of the women's tourney with a straight set victory over Viola Gregoria, 6-4, 6-2.

* * *

The young shotmaker, who seldom hits a ball without putting "something on it" has a fine chance to become the first girl ever to hold the Mansfield girls' and women's championships simultaneously.

In the finals she'll meet either her mother, Muriel Fisher, or Mary Gregoria, from whom she lifted the girls' net crown last Sunday. The second episode in the Gregoria-Fisher tennis feud in the women's singles tournament is scheduled for this evening at Maple Lake courts

As in her match with Mary Gregoria Sunday Meredith had to come from behind to take the first set from Viola Gregoria yesterday. Viola got away to a 2-1 lead in games before Meredith took two straight love games. She won the next two games at 30 and 15 before Viola took two games at deuce and love to make it 4-5. Meredith took the next game and set.

Meredith won the first three games of the second set in handy fashion, dropped the next at 30, took the next two, dropped a love game, and finished it off with a love game. She was making beautiful placements along side and baselines throughout the second set.

John Butler and John Schwarz tangled in a hot semi-final battle in the boys' division last evening, but were unable to complete the match after Butler took the opening set 9-7, and Schwarz tied it up 6-4. They are booked to finish it this evening.

* * *

Schedules for final play in the tournament have been drawn up with all finals matches at Maple Lake in an effort to draw a gallery worthy of championship play.

Doubles championships are set Saturday at 2 p. m. with Enos and Gadfield meeting Bournes and Slabaugh.

Singles championships in three divisions will be settled Sunday afternoon, starting with the boys at 1:30, followed by the women's finals, and then the men.

Segura Given First Real Test

NEW YORK —(UP)— Francisco Segura, the colorful Ecuadorean, meets the first real test in his drive for the National Amateur Tennis championship at Forest Hills today when he goes against tough Billy Talbert, fourth-seeded Cincinnati insurance agent.

And while the bounding South American plays the sandy-haired youngster with the hot net game—prime requisite for halting the swarthy South American—national clay court champion Seymour Greenberg, of Chicago, engages Davis cup star Frankie Parker of Los Angeles in another quarter-final match.

Two women's singles quarter-finals also are scheduled, with third-seeded Margaret Osborne, Los Angeles, facing seventh ranked Doris Hart, Miami, Fla., while second-seeded Pauline Betz, Los Angeles, meets unranked Shirley Fry, Akron, O.

Parker had an easy time stopping Bill Vogt, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-0, 6-1.

Ted Schoeder and Sidney Wood, New York, top-seeded team, reached the third round of the men's doubles with a 9-11, 7-5, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1 victory over Jim Evert, Chicago, and Dick McKee, Miami.

SUSPEND LEAGUES

TIFFIN—(AP)—Samuel Martin, Seneca county school superintendent, asserted today that the county high school basketball league and grade school basketball would be discontinued during the war. High schools will play nearby teams. Chorus and orchestra contests also will be abandoned.

Scorer's Ruling Robs Hank Borowy of No-Hit Contest

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The crowd of 26,827 fans raised an exultant roar when Walt Judnich, last man of the St. Louis Browns in the last inning, swung and missed, apparently assuring the big, blond Polish pitcher of the Yanks, Hank Borowy, entrance to the Hall of Fame with a no-hitter.

* * *

Borowy walked down from the mound thinking he had registered a no-hitter. His mates thought so. Likewise the fans. Hundreds of them streamed out onto the field to congratulate Borowy. He had to be rescued from the back-slappers.

Then, in the midst of this enthusiastic demonstration, the official totals appeared on the scoreboard, with the figures, 0-1-2 showing in the St. Louis slots—the official scorer had credited one hit to the Browns, the only man in the stadium who had.

There was a murmur of disbelief and disapproval. Brigades of fans swarmed to the press box and shouted vituperations at the official scorer, who had judged a skittery grounder that bounced off Joe Gordon's glove in the first inning as a hit instead of an error. Joe Gordon knocked it down and tossed to Buddy Hassett, at first, but Harlan Clift was safe. The official scorer notified the press section that it was a hit. Everyone else thought it was a Gordon error. The misunderstanding reached thunderous proportions after the final out.

It was one of those baseball tragedies in which the scorer may be right, or wrong. But in this instance, Borowy should salvage some satisfaction because it gave him 18 wins against three losses for his first season in the majors, and makes him at least the east's outstanding candidate for the "Rookie of the Year" award.

It was on May 5, 1942, that big Hank relieved Johnny Lindell in the first inning against the White Sox. Bill Dickey, veteran catcher of the Yanks, told him to keep the ball low and on the inside for lefties To keep within this area, Borowy pitched with a twist of his wrist—just something happened all of a sudden—and discovered that the ball was dipping in and away from the southpaws. And they weren't hitting it. He was throwing a lightning fast sinker that dropped and faded away from the batsman—the "dipper ball."

Since that accidental discovery, Borowy has been using the "dipper" against all portside swatters, and he has gone to town. Whether or not the official scorer was right yesterday no one knows for sure. Most men in the press section say he was But, anyway, the resulting disagreement made big Hank a hero in New York, at least, and has attentioned the rest of the majors to the fact that here is a robust candidate for "the rookie of the year"

HUNTS QUARTERBACK

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Head Coach George Munger declared today that Penn's 1942 football hopes depend on Uncle Sam and his success in finding a capable quarterback for Gene Davis, spark-plug of last year's crack squad.

Cagney Sells His Share of Bonds

CHICAGO —(INS)— Jimmy Cagney, whose chief claim to fame up to now has been in the movies, today qualified as a high-powered salesman.

* * *

He threw his personality around yesterday at Washington Park and in no time at all had disposed of $251,000 in war bonds.

* * *

His two best customers were Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Washington Park, who handed him a check for $100,000 on behalf of the track, and John Marsch, owner of Occupation, who turned in the $58,000 he had received for his colt's victory in the Washington Park Futurity.

Then Jimmy really went to work and drummed up the additional amount among the crowd, offering many of his customers autographs and—among the feminine contingent- kisses.

Men are like rivers; the deeper they are the less noise they make.

STOCKS KEEP TO NARROW MARGIN DURING TRADING

Gasoline, Fuel Oil Supplies Increase as National Consumption Drops.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks generally continued to move over a narrow course in today's market although plus signs were a shade in the majority.

On the upside were Standard Oil (NJ), Chrysler, Radio Corp., Schenley, Vanadium and Sperry. Unchanged to lower were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Western Union and Great Northern.

Followers of the oils noted the figures of the American Petroleum institute which indicated gasoline and fuel oil supplies in the United States during the week ended Aug. 29 registered a contra-seasonal increase over the preceding week of 1,644,000 barrels.

The bulge was due mainly to a sharp drop in gasoline consumption running as high as 40 per cent for the eastern seaboard and some 25 per cent for the nation as a whole compared with a year ago.

Attention was given the Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosing bank clearings in 23 cities for the week concluded yesterday were moderately above the week before and 23.5 per cent larger than in the like 1941 period. Prominent year-to-year gains were reported by Portland, Ore., Omaha, Seattle and St. Louis.

PLANT SHIFTS TO WAR WORK

Shelby Cycle, Ordered to End Production, Prepares for New Manufacturing.

An official of the Shelby Cycle company announced today that the company was speeding plans for the conversion of facilities for 100 per cent war production, following the receipt of a federal order to cease all bicycle production.

John S. Seltzer, president and general manager, said the company along with all but two of all other cycle manufacturers had been ordered to stop production as of Sept. 1. The order was given to preserve critical metals for war production.

Seltzer said that he believed the Shelby company would be given an extention until Nov. 1, however, Several companies with large inventory stocks will be given such extensions, he said.

In the meantime, however, Seltzer stated the plant would rush plans for converting machinery to full-time war production. He estimated that it would take "at least four months" for the conversion and said that a temporary lay-off would be "cut as much as possible."

The War Production Board yesterday cut bicycle manufacture to 10,000 a month and announced that the Westfield Manufacturing company of Westfield, Mass., may produce 6,000 bicycles a month and the Huffman Manufacturing company of Dayton, 4,000. All other companies must stop cycle production.

"When we get running properly," said Seltzer, "we hope to be using all of our facilities and will employ about 400 men at our peak."

SHIP FOUNDERS

Great Lakes Ore Carrier Goes Down; One Man Lost.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The 1,695 ton ore carrier Steelvendor foundered in a storm early today off Manitou island in Lake Superior. Announcement of the sinking came from the officers of the American Steel and Wire company, here which owns and operates the ship.

A company spokesman said that all hands were saved except one sailor, as yet unidentified. The carrier was loaded with 3,000 tons of iron ore picked up at Duluth, Minn. She was under command of Capt. G. L. Kane, Buffalo, N. Y.

First reports received here said the ship had turned over. The Steelvendor was built in 1923 and operated out of Cleveland.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Bicycle Stolen — William Proshek, 18 Bartley avenue, reported to police today that his bicycle, valued at $12, had been stolen last night while parked in front of the Ohio theater.

Posts Bond — Ben Blank of Cleveland Heights, posted bond for $16.30 and waived appearance in municipal court when arrested last night by traffic officers on a charge of speeding on Lexington avenue.

Meet Tonight — Knights of Columbus will hold their regular monthly business meeting today at 8 p. m. at the K. of C. club rooms on West fourth street. Lunch will be served following the meeting.

Bicycle Recovered — A bicycle belonging to George Kirtley, 602 Crescent road, and stolen from his home Monday night was recovered by J. Kampf at the latter's grocery, 252 West Sixth street, police reported today.

Recover Bicycles—Police yesterday reported recovery of a bicycle which had been listed as stolen several days ago by Charles Terry, 280 First avenue. J. Kampf, grocer at 231 West Sixth street, turned over to police a bicycle which he found abandoned in the rear of his store yesterday.

Youths Find Tire — Sheriff Frank E. Robinson today was looking for the owner of a tire found yesterday in a woodlot near Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company building by two boys. The sheriff believes the tire was stolen and hidden in the woods. The owner may have it by describing it as to make, size, and condition, he said.

Bitten By Dog—Dr. Stanley C. Schiller, 77 Parkwood boulevard, reported to police yesterday afternoon that his son, David, had been bitten by a dog while delivering papers at 548 Park avenue west. The boy's trousers were torn and he received a wound on the ankle, the complainant said. Police ordered the owner of the dog to keep the animal tied for 10 days.

won territory as Chinese dispatches reported the recapture of the important highway and river center of Lupao, 25 miles northwest of Canton.

High Chinese officials have repeatedly insisted that it was merely a question of time before Japan attacked Siberia and that tens of thousands of Japanese troops withdrawn from the China campaign were massing along the Siberian frontier in Manchukuo.

Chinese 16 Miles From Canton

CHUNGKING —(INS)— Chinese columns driving on Canton in south China have recaptured the town of Lupao, 16 miles from Canton, a military spokesman announced today.

While the Chinese armies have been clearing Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces of enemy troops Japanese military leaders have met in Kaifeng in Honan province, it was reported.

Meantime, it was said, Japanese reinforcements have been shifted to Kankow as Chinese armies closed in on Nanchang, the last remaining important Japanese base in Kiangsi province.

An indication of Japanese plans was given in the report that five Japanese mechanized divisions, 60,000 to 100,000 men, have been landed in Indo-China and have been moved westward towards Burma.

The reinforcements were reported to have landed in Indo-China August 15.

GETS BIG PLANT

Ashtabula Receives $3,000,000 Carbide Company.

ASHTABULA — Construction will begin soon on a new war plant here which will cost between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, it had been announced today in Washington by Congressman Michael J. Kirwin of Youngstown.

The National Carbide company will erect and operate the plant under a contract with the War Plant corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The new plant will manufacture calcium carbide which will be used primarily in synthetic rubber and for cleaning solutions for airplane engines.
